13-Week Paid Vacations for Steel Group

Veteran Workers
Take Long Holiday
Under New Contract

BY BOB VOELKER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Veteran steelworkers are hurrying out of mill gates these days with an extra bounce in their steps and smiles on their faces.

Outside the gate, there is back-slapping and laughter. The oldtimers then head home to enjoy something few of them could envision for themselves years ago.

They are starting, for the first time, 13-week paid vacations granted in the current steel labor contract.

Many scatter to far-off vacation spots. Others stay home, leisurely tackling odd jobs around the house and perhaps planning a trip later. Some just take it easy, relishing the simple luxury of doing nothing.

Vacationers Happy
"Best thing they could do for a workingman; it's wonderful," said James L. Parker, a laborer at U.S. Steel Corp.'s nearby Clairton coking plant.

A mill worker for 41 years, Parker added, "It's a relief. You're getting paid for it and you feel good."

Machinist Harry McKee, 62, is another of those staying home, watching the world go by.

"I've got my wife, grandson and dog. We're happy," said McKee. "I hope the rest of the men are enjoying their vacations as much as I am."

Many Will Travel
McKee works at the Pittsburgh Works of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. He's been in the mills 45 years, through bitter strikes and layoffs.

The urge to travel hits many vacationers right away. Most say they want to see old friends or new places.

George Vismick, 53, a roller in the J&L plant here, headed immediately for Florida. He's staying in a Miami hotel and plans a leisurely return trip to his home in nearby McKeesport.

The vacation program was worked out in negotiations last year between major basic steel producers and the United Steelworkers Union. It covers some 450,000 workers in basic steel and has since spread to other steel-related plants.

The plan provides 13-week vacations each five years for the 50 per cent of the work force with the most seniority. It's figured on a company-wide basis, not plant by plant.

Soviets Propose Cuts In Military Spending

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed today that all nations agree on a simultaneous slash of 10 to 15 per cent in their military expenditure.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin made the proposal in the 17-nation disarmament conference.

He said the conference should take it up as the top priority item, leaving all other matters until later.

Counties Can't Gain Via Meals In Huber Cases

Thompson Decides
Profits Would be
Violation of Law

MADISON (AP) — Atty. Gen. George Thompson held in an opinion Wednesday that it's against the law for counties to make a profit on the meals of Huber Law prisoners.

Thompson also said counties cannot levy against the prisoners a board charge which includes the cost of operating the county jail.

The opinion was asked by the State Department of Public Welfare which said "several counties appear to be in violation" of the Huber Law. The law provides that county jail prisoners may be paroled during the day to take jobs in order to support their dependents.

In Outagamie, Winnebago, Calumet and Waupaca counties the sheriff, not the county, operates the food concession for prisoners.

Sheriffs are authorized to take from a prisoner's wages amounts to cover the prisoner's board, the cost of travel to work and incidental expenses.

County Not Named

The Welfare Department said one county, which was not named, charged the Huber Law prisoners $4.94 a day for board and the figure "is admittedly total daily per capita cost of operating the jail, including provisions for the salaries of jail employees. The State Legislative Reference Library said last year that levies against the prisoners ranged from $1.50 to $5 a day."

Based On Costs

Thompson said the term "board" refers solely to meals furnished and includes no other items. He also said board charges "must be reasonable and may be based on actual cost and preparation of meals."

The opinion said that Huber Law prisoners who are working are to be charged for board during the entire week, even if they only work five of the seven days. But it also said that if a prisoner ceases to work, he may not be charged for his board during the period of unemployment.

Officials in Ohio Seek Student Protest Leaders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Officials at Ohio State University were looking today for the ring-leaders of a rowdy demonstration by several thousand students that included a march on city police headquarters.

Dean of Men Mylin Ross told police that the Miss Cocozziello leaders of the unannounced mass protest—which apparently stemmed from a story in the campus newspaper about the arrest of a student for failure to pay a parking ticket—would be sought out and disciplined.

The demonstration began about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday at the spot near the campus where Marjorie Cocozziello, sophomore from Paterson, N.J., was given the jaywalking ticket. Within an hour the crowd had grown to what police later estimated was 5,000 to 6,000.

The students—both men and women—crossed repeatedly in the middle of the block on High Street between 14th and 15th avenues. Soon the crowd was so great the demonstrators formed a solid mass in the street.

After about two hours, a crowd of about 1,000 marched three miles down High Street to the police station in downtown Columbus. There were a few reports of damage along the way, including smashed auto windows and a damaged theater marquee.

Brown set 2 p.m. CST as the time for his ruling then recessed the court until that time. He acted shortly after the hearing resumed on the defense effort to win a transfer to another city of the murder trial for the killer of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The judge called recess when defense attorneys said testimony from more than 100 witnesses subpoenaed but not yet called to testify would simply add the same sort of testimony already heard.

Train Dynamiting
Scheme Is Foiled

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An attempt to dynamite a freight train of the strike-plagued Florida East Coast Railway was foiled Wednesday night by four boys, authorities said.

The youths were walking along the tracks when they discovered 45 sticks of dynamite hooked to a rail. They dismantled the charge minutes before the south-bound train passed.

Deputy Leif Larson of the Lenoir County sheriff's office after police, directed from a said the dynamite was electrically wired to the track and the locomotive's wheels.

Ames, 61, plays in the "Mr. Ed" television series and was a star in the series, "Life With Father," as well as many movies.

Like Gangster Movie
He said the action, reminiscent of a gangster movie, started when "I heard the doorbell ring. It was just after 8 a.m. There was a young fellow standing there with a gun. He said, 'Back up and shut up.' "He said, "This is a holdup and a kidnap. Don't try anything funny."

"I couldn't believe it. He said one false move and my wife would be dead."

"He asked for $50,000 within two hours. I pretended to be auto dealer, his wife, Christine, and two others were involved in the gun, but then I realized that was silly."

When Ames told the man he did not have $50,000, the suspect told him to contact his partner, Ralph Williams, and tell him to come to the Ames' home for a business conference.

When Williams arrived, the gunman held him, Ames and his wife, and a house guest, Herbert F. Baumgartner, 50, at gunpoint until nearly 10 a.m. when the Bank of America branch opened.

The gunman ordered Williams to get the $50,000 from the bank in small denominations.

"Bring it here by noon or I'll kill all three of these people," he warned.

Notified Police
They sat in the Ames home, drinking coffee under the watchful eyes of the young man with the cocked pistol, until Williams returned with the money about 12:15.

He handed over the money. He didn't say he had notified police and that the place was surrounded by officers—including one in a helicopter overhead.

The gunman had Williams gagged and turned him over to police. Turn to Page 9, Col. 1

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — more bulldozers, an old tank fighting between Turkish and Greek Cypriot communities broke out again in the coastal city of Limassol as diplomats conferred here in an effort to land an international peace force on the troubled island.

An uneasy cease-fire which was sent into effect this morning was broken less than three hours later and Sir Denis Barnett, commander of British forces on Cyprus, ordered the evacuation of all 104 families of British servicemen living in and around the embattled area.

British troops remained on the outskirts of the city because of renewed fighting.

Six Royal Air Force ambulances began to evacuate the wounded and dead from the Turkish quarter. The exact number of casualties was not known.

An Associated Press correspondent said he saw five Turkish dead in a Turkish Cypriot area of Limassol overrun in the battle. He said the total could be determined only after officials gained access to the surrounded quarter.

Use Bulldozers, Tank
Greek Cypriots said they lost one dead and several wounded. A British military source said the Greek Cypriots used ar-

The savage fighting came as Undersecretary of State George Ball again met with President Makarios in an attempt to get his approval of an international force to keep the pace on Cyprus.

Greek Cypriot sources said Makarios had rejected the proposal, but the continued negotiations lent some hope that the Greek Cypriot leader would modify his stand. Ball postponed his departure Wednesday night to continue the talks.

The shooting finally stopped to allow Ian Williams, a British official, to enter the besieged Turkish sector and bring out the local Turkish Cypriot leader, Ramadan Djemil, for peace talks.

An informed British source said the Turks had been taking "a very bad beating" from the Greek Cypriots and were in danger of being wiped out.

The Turkish Cypriots in the area were reported surrounded and the source said the Greeks have launched a complete military operation against them.

Starts at Dawn
The new battle, the third in as many days at Limassol, broke out at dawn around Berengaria castle at the approaches of the second largest city of Cyprus.

The fighting lent fresh urgency to Ball's mission. The U.S.-British proposals would keep the U.N. Security Council out of the situation.

Ball had planned to leave Wednesday night. Instead, he stayed over and held another conference with Makarios this morning.

Wants U.N. Control
Makarios rejected the plan after two meetings with Ball, Greek Cypriot sources reported. He wants U.N. control over the force.

American and British specialists were reported in Washington to be working on a fallback proposal, ordered after Ball's lack of progress was reported to President Johnson and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

The government radio asserted that 20 Turkish cypriots were killed in Wednesday's fighting for the castle at Limassol and that Greek Cypriot casualties were one dead and several wounded.

Ecumenical Movement Seen in Lenten Services in Appleton

Churches Schedule Rites With Others, Speakers of Various Faiths Give Talks

The ecumenical movement is being felt in Lenten services at several Appleton churches. Congregations of First Methodist Church and Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren Church are meeting together for a series of midweek services during Lent. Nationally, the Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren churches are discussing a possible merger.

One of the union services, Feb. 26, will be a dialogue between the Rev. Mr. Dauner and the Rev. Marvin Schilling, pastor of First Methodist Church. The Rev. Mr. Dauner said there are no steps being taken toward union on a local level. If a merger is agreed upon nationally, it must be voted upon at the general conferences of the Methodist Church this summer and the Evangelical United Brethren Church in 1966, and then at all annual state conferences, he said.

Local Unions
There have been several local unions across the nation. One was the recent merger of the Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren churches in Marion. The union services of the two churches began at 6:45 p.m. Ash Wednesday when members joined in the sacrament of holy communion in Emmanuel Church. The Rev. Gordon Sorensen, associate pastor of First Methodist Church, gave the communion meditation, and Emmanuel Chancel Choir sang anthems.

Location of weekly services will alternate between the two churches. Theme of the Lenten series in St. James Methodist Church is "Hope Within God's Family." The Rev. James Vahey, St. James pastor, preached at the opening service Ash Wednesday. The lectures will continue from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Mondays during Lent. The services, open to the public, begin with a hymn and a prayer.

Attempt at Censorship
The American press, in collaboration with U.S. government officials, has been and is continuing to suppress and distort news stories originating in Cuba which relate progress enjoyed there since the Castro revolution in 1956.

This was the view expressed by John Coatesworth, a University of Wisconsin graduate student, who spent two months in Cuba during summer, 1963, opposing the travel ban levied by the U.S. State Department. Coatesworth, a New York City native, was one of 58 American students to take the excursion. He spoke at Harper Hall, Lawrence College, and was sponsored by the National Student Association.

In the "general interests of American foreign policy," Coatesworth said, the State Department has restricted issuance of passports to Cuba. He added that he went to Cuba, in spite of the ban, strictly out of professional interest: he is a history student and plans to teach after graduation.

He said he also wanted to exercise his freedom as an American "to stay free," stating that the State Department's ban is a disguised attempt at censorship, quoting the New York Times.

The travel ban had considerable effect on the trip to Cuba, he said. Since the State Department allows no commercial flights between the U.S. and Cuba, the party of 58 had to go to Havana via Paris, France, and Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Travel Unhindered
Coatesworth stressed that his party was not given a merely rose-tinted tour of the island. While guides assisted somewhat, they generally were free to travel where they wished, although plans to enter a prison containing political prisoners were not honored.

He said he spent much time talking with counter-revolutionaries, who willingly discussed their problems with the Castro-Soviet administration. There was no anti-American outburst among the citizenry, the reception being exceptionally cordial when the Cubans discovered the visitors to be American. He cited as an example a group of students who welcomed the party, displaying a Cuban and an American flag.

Coatesworth was careful to note, however, that the areas shown in the slides which he showed and in his talk did not represent an accurate cross-section of the Cuban population or of its problems.

Rationing System
The system of rationing in Cuba is one of the distortions receiving much publicity in the American press, he said. Each Cuban is allowed less than a pound of meat per week. While this is not good, this is extremely more than many received before the revolution. This was the theme of much of Coatesworth's talk. He admitted that conditions are not particularly rosy in Cuba but that positive steps are being taken and will continue to be taken.

Such is the progress in the education system, he said, that only 3 per cent of the population remains illiterate. This figure is deceptive, however, as literacy in many cases is not constituted by even a second-grade education.

Passports of members of the party were revoked by the State Department when the party arrived back in the U.S. The House un-American Activities Committee questioned many on their ties with communist-led organizations. Coatesworth defended the integrity of his fellow travelers, stating that, with some exceptions, there were no communists present.

Xavier Teacher Pay Scale to Increase in '65

Lay Board Votes to Match Public School Salary Schedule

The Xavier High School lay board has decided to meet the teachers' salary scale of Appleton public schools by the 1965-1966 school year.

The board decided Tuesday that lay teachers for the 1964-1965 school year will be hired at the current Xavier salary schedule but the board intends to meet the public school schedule the following year.

The current base salary for Xavier teachers with a bachelor's degree is $4,700. The base salary for Appleton public school teachers is $4,750 this year and will increase to $4,900 next fall.

The current Xavier schedule provides for a $150 annual increase for family men and a $100 annual increase for single teachers, in 10 steps. Teachers with a master's degree receive an additional $300, and heads of families receive $400 more.

The Xavier salary schedule was increased substantially last year when the base salary was hiked from $4,100 to $4,700 to match the public schools' base salary. This increase was proposed by a committee of laymen which preceded the present board.

The lay board also approved a special committee to study a pension plan for Xavier teachers. The committee will be appointed by board president Robert Bachman.

Complaint Filed by Plumbing Firm Charges Methods Used Are Illegal

A legal test of the Appleton Board of Education's bid-handling procedures has been started. The complaint was filed by the new Albert Einstein Junior High School, with legal requirements and said it could proceed with awarding of contracts.

Defendants in a complaint which seeks a declaratory judgment that a plumbing contract be voided by the court are the City of Appleton and Wenzel Brothers, Inc., 712 Valley Road, Menasha.

Attorney Robert A. Bachman initiated the action on behalf of Carlton Selig, 318 E. Lincoln St., Appleton, an officer of R. Selig & Sons plumbing firm.

The defendants have 17 days in which to answer the complaint, which was served Monday.

Board Rapped
The board of education has been criticized in other governmental circles in recent weeks.

Failed to Comply
It is claimed the Wenzel Brothers' bid failed to comply with some requirements.

It is alleged no certified check or bid bond, listed in the requirements and complying with state statute, accompanied the bid submitted by Wenzel Brothers.

The complaint also alleges the bid was opened by the board of education and the required bond was missing.

The board of education ruled that the bid of Wenzel Brothers, Inc. would be read and considered if the bid bond were filed with the board prior to the reading of the plumbing bids, and the Wenzel bid was laid aside without being read.

It continued: "Upon completion of the reading of the plumbing bids, defendant, Wenzel Brothers, Inc., bid bond had not been furnished to the board of education."

A member of the board of education then ruled that the Wenzel bid would be read subject to being considered only if the bid bond were filed with the board.

Scandals Reflect on Behavior Patterns of Youth, Lions Are Told

School problems are accentuated by those of society, Appleton Lions were told Tuesday by Father Alfred Lison, spiritual director at Xavier High School.

Father Lison cited the Estes, Profuma and Baker scandals as examples of factors affecting student attitudes.

The bending of moral standards was reflected in Father Lison's use of statistics on robbery and pilferage in the United States. Department store shortages, attributed to pilferage and shop-lifting, were reported at $200 million last year — five times greater than the dollar total involved in robberies in the nation.

Regarding children today, Father Lison said, "It's not poverty that is affecting their standard of values but prosperity." The ease of acquiring material things was cited as a factor in directing youth away from creative activity.

Reybrock was arrested by Appleton police early Wednesday.

Fox Cities Residents Unsure of Spending Plans if Taxes Cut

Fox Cities residents don't have probably go toward something much in the way of definite plans for the extra money they would get from a proposed federal tax cut.

But one thing is sure—the money will be spent. With tongue firmly in cheek, Mrs. Douglas Johnson, route 1, Larsen, said she would "put it away to pay next year's taxes."

Skepticism came from Jack Burroughs, Appleton High School biology teacher who said, "I have no special plans for it. It doesn't amount to that much anyway."

Retail salesman James A. Lee, 306 S. Lake, Neenah, said, "I don't think it will boost business very much. I'll spend it on things for the family, clothing, furniture, extra groceries."

"When I actually see the extra pay in my envelope, it'll

Stocks Active But Irregular

Interest Dwindles In ATT's Issue Of $100 Shares

NEW YORK (AP) — Interest dwindled in American Telephone's rights issue and the stock market moved irregularly early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional.

AT&T, trading "ex" its rights to purchase one share of common at $100 for every 20 held, was quoted up more than a point. Trading in the rights shrank after Wednesday's huge total of 3,375,000. The rights were unchanged.

Chrysler, as expected, announced record earnings and the stock sank more than a point now that the news was out.

Little leadership was shown by the prominent stock groups. Rails, cigar manufacturers and a wide range of selected issues were mostly higher. Steels, oils, drugs and cigarette issues showed a somewhat lower tone.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 294 1/2 with industrials up .3, rails up .4 and utilities down .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .13 at 794.95.

General Telephone & Electronics rose 1/4 to 33 on 3,500 shares. Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher in moderately active trading.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

That the flood project could be extended, or that if sufficient information was supplied the slough could be in the current project.

"But I can't promise anything," he said.

Monday Uppgren said that it was possible that the slough could be used as an off stream reservoir for the Fox River.

Hicks also explained that the $85,000 which was in the budget for the fiscal 1965 was the federal grant given to the study which area municipal officials were informed of recently.

The figure quoted to them was $75,000.

Hicks said that the overall plan includes a number of Federal agencies and consequently Robert Uppgren of the Regional office of the Federal Fish and Wildlife section of the Department of the Interior was talking only of his department's part in the plan when he said Monday that the slough was not included in the study.

"He (Uppgren) was not wrong but was concerned with only their part of the study," he said.

"However, Neenah will be included in the comprehensive study," Hicks said that it is possible

Harold Stassen, the Philadelphia lawyer and former Minnesota governor who says he is a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination this year, was asked again Wednesday by Talbot Peterson, Appleton, state Republican chairman, to make up his mind about whether or not he will enter the state's April primary.

Stassen, who talked to Peterson last week, said he was undecided about filing a slate of candidates in opposition to the state GOP's favorite son slate for Eighth District Rep. John Byrnes of Green Bay.

Stassen professed ignorance about Wisconsin's primary election setup which allows Democrats to cross over and vote in the Republican primary.

Peterson told Stassen the eight awarded the trophy as outstanding major GOP Presidential possibilities have agreed to stay out of the state primary in deference or at Harrison School.

board before completion of the opening of all contractors bids pertaining to the school project. The bid of Wenzel, Inc. was then read. The bid bond was filed by Wenzel Brothers, Inc. with the board of education after the reading of the Wenzel Brothers, Inc. bid but before the completion of the reading of all contractors bids.

The complaint notes the bid of Wenzel was the lowest submitted by the plumbing contractors.

It claimed Selig "strongly protested" acceptance of the Wenzel bid by the board of education on the grounds it did not comply with the advertisement for bids, instructions to bidders and plumbing proposal since no bond accompanied the bid.

Bachman said because the city attorney had rendered an opinion, and he advises all city boards and officials, it was necessary for his client to initiate action "on behalf of himself and the taxpayers of the City of Appleton".

The Wenzel bid was for $87,800. The Selig firm was second lowest bidder with $88,835.

First Lady Pattern of Mrs. Johnson Emerging

BY FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson broke one rose from her bouquet for a girl she has been in the White House, who waited a long time at an airport for a glimpse of her. "Me, too," the First Lady con- fided to a worker in retraining school who admitted he was nervous at a presentation cere- mony.
It's part of the emerging pat- tern of Mrs. Johnson as First Lady.

Paper Institute Staff Hears Scientist From England During Visit

Following, discussions with staff members. In the morning, he presented a special seminar on aspects of his studies to the staff and stu- dents in the afternoon.
Several papers resulting from Corte's work were presented at an international symposium on formation and structure of pa- per held at Oxford, England. He presently is a research associ- ate with Wiggins Teape Re- search and Development Lim- ited of Beaconsfield, England.
His host at the institute was Dr. J. A. Van den Akker, head of the department of physics and mathematics, who also pre- sented a paper on the theory of the structure of paper at the Oxford symposium.

Paper Firm Head Talks On Sulphite Pulping Future, Research Role
WISCONSIN RAPIDS — "The long-term future of sulphite pulping as a major source of cellulose fiber for paper manu- facturing remains uncertain," Stanton W. Mead, president of Consolidated Papers, Inc., stated in his annual report as head of Sulphite Pulp Manufacturers' Research League.
"In large measure the out- come hinges on how success- fully the sulphite industry finds effective ways to abate pollution and make good use of the half of the log which pulping dis- solves away in the spent liq- uor," Mead said.
"Several U.S. sulphite mills which lacked the advantage of league membership have shut down within recent months. The economic well-being of many a prosperous pulp and paper man- ufacturing town in Wisconsin may eventually depend directly on the results achieved by re- search projects now under way in the league."

British Threesome Set Show Business Trend

'Beyond the Fringe' Stars Appear in Jules Verne Piece; Going Home in May

BY JINGO
Alan Bennett looks almost too English schoolboy to be one-fourth trondsetter, but fresh-faced, naughty-little-boy looks notwithstanding, he is.

Bennett, along with Jonathan Miller, Peter Cook and Dudley Moore, comprised the delightfully droll, irreverent Britons of "Beyond the Fringe," the show which has made satire a respectable word in American show business. And, since Miller has left the cast of the Broadway revue (now presenting its 1964 edition), the last time Americans have seen the four of them together was last night on Chronicle, when they starred in Miller's adaptation of Jules Verne's "A Trip to the Moon."

Jingo
"It was not really a comic thing," Bennett said in his York-shire accent which makes a word like 'much' turn out 'mooch'. "It's serio-comic. We played members of the Baltimore Gun Club, whatever that was. Some of it was spoof, but a lot was fairly serious." He paused for a moment, stretched and said, "It's nice doing some straight acting things."

You remind Bennett that when the Fringers came to this country, much was made of that fact that none was in show business. (Cook, an impresario of sorts, and Moore, a musician, were on, but not beyond, the fringe.) "We are now," he smiled.

Cook ran his fingers through his short, blond hair, grimaced and said, "It's awful saying what one is. If one says he is an actor and he is not appearing in anything at the time, then he is out of work. But if one says, for instance, that he is an historian, which is what I was before, one can always go to the library and look something up and be an historian."

Still Amateur
"I have looked beyond Beyond the Fringe and all I see is an awful black void. It's an awful thing being an actor and not really being a professional. I don't really know how to go about getting a job in the theater — and I really do want to continue."

"By the time I get back to England in May, people at home will have forgotten me. I'll probably have to take out one of those full page ads and say something like 'I'm back.' Everybody in show business is always in a great state of optimism. 'The people in the business will flock to you,' they say. But I don't think so."

Chayefski Play Elaborate But Boring

BY WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Passion of Josef D." which opened Tuesday night at Broadway's Barrymore Theater, is an ambitious attempt at high drama that doesn't quite come off.

Paddy Chayefsky, who tackles larger themes with each successive script, crams much of Russia's Communist revolution into this starkly noisy study of Stalin. He also directs the elaborate display, and maybe the tandem job was just too much.

A good deal of talk is devoted to background on the 1917 upheaval, making for yawns. His central interest in the future dictator never gets further than sketching and the ultimate episode — a meeting between Stalin and the dying Lenin — is contrived instead of convincing.

Alan paused, twitched a bit, rubbed his fingers over his hair this time, and said, "A lot will happen to me in May. I'll turn 30, be out of work and go back home. But you know, I don't mind getting older now. It doesn't depress me as much as it did when I was 25. Now I still find there is some youth in me."

Corpsman Turns to Obstetrics

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 2) — Harold J. Stone's compelling performance, and story line that tackles discrimination in reverse, gives what one is. If one says he is an actor and he is not appearing in anything at the time, then he is out of work. But if one says, for instance, that he is an historian, which is what I was before, one can always go to the library and look something up and be an historian."

7-7:30 (Channel 11) — The Donna Reed Show has a sentimental outing, but it does have moments of charm. A baby fawn is brought to the Stone household, and Trisha immediately adopts the appealing little creature.

7-8 (Channel 2) — Rawhide repeats "Incident of Iron Bull," a fair adventure which puts Michael Ansara back in Indian dress for a tale about an Indian trying to learn to sail with the times.

7-30-8 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons has another charming and funny show. Steve misinterprets the family's eagerness at a chance to go to Hawaii, so he plans to sell the house and move there permanently.

7-30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Some-

8-9 (Channel 2) — Perry Mason comes up with its best show of the season. It's a good mystery-suspense yarn that doesn't feature a witness stand confession. Richard Rust is reunited with his mother (Sheila Bromley), who had killed her husband before witnesses, but now, has no memory of the event. Mason defends her and gets her off.

8-9:30 (Channel 4-5) — Has a few funny scenes. Shirley Booth mistakes a tax assessor for a would-be client of Mrs. B's, and she tries to act like E. G. Marshall while getting testimony that will confirm Mrs. B's story that the client insisted her whole place be done over in red.

9-9:30 (Channel 11) — The Sid Caesar Show has a better-than-usual outing. The best skit has Sid and Gisele MacKenzie as a pair of Italians recruited by Italian director Joey Forman to act as love-making extras in street scenes. And Sid's demands get pretty funny.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — A lot of music provided by guests Lena Horne and Dean Martin, as well as the star of The Perry Como Show give him his best so far.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND
By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

No. This usually is the reaction of a person who lacks resources to become a worthwhile person himself. Therefore, at least in his feelings, he is "married to the company." Sometimes he has an inferior position, but tries to give everyone the impression that he is a "big shot" who helps make the policies. Sometimes he really is a "big shot." The danger is that if he gets fired or retires he ends up with nothing. Better learn to be a person in your own right.

Women worry about the same things now that they always have. True—False. A woman used to worry about such things as "the roof leaks" or "We can't pay the bills." Now that American families are better fixed financially, a woman worries about different things. The problems that fill her mind now are more likely to be: "Nancy is going around with a wild crowd," or "Johnny will get killed in his hot rod." These are "The Women Taxes" according to Fred Sam-

Plain Paper With Glossy Surface Makes Book Covers

BY CAPPY DICK

If you would like to make some marbled paper covers for your school books, here's how to do it:

Get some plain paper that has a glossy surface and cut it to the size that will fit one of your books. Also get a small amount sure all the drops of enamel have been broken up.

Dip the paper slowly into the water edge-first as the boy is doing in Figure 1, then slowly lift it out, holding the paper school book.

of enamel paint. Almost any color will do—green, blue, orange, yellow, red and even black.

Find a large pan or a bucket. Clean it and fill it with clear water. Place a few drops of enamel on top of the water and stir it gently with a small stick until the paint has been separated into a web of fine lines. Be

Johnson Praises Douglas Dillon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson heaped praise on Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon in a speech to Internal Revenue officials Tuesday.

Then he added: "Somebody called him a Republican. I think that is about the worst thing I have ever heard said about him."

Dillon is a Republican. He was ambassador to France and undersecretary of state under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower before being named to his present post by the late President John F. Kennedy.

vertical as you do so. The idea is to let the swirls of paint cling to both sides of the paper.

Hang up the paper where neither side will touch anything. Let it dry. When you are sure the paint has hardened and will not smear, polish the paper with a little paraffin to make the surface smooth.

Your marbled cover is then ready to wrap around your school book.

Cancer Society Tells of Goal

Outagamie Workers Hope to Raise $22,000 in April

Outagamie County unit of the American Cancer Society has set a goal of $22,000 for its April crusade.

The goal was announced at a meeting Wednesday, presided over by John Powers, president of the local unit, who introduced Jack Richardson, county crusade chairman.

Richardson explained plans for the county-wide drive in April.

More than $23,000 was raised during the crusade last year to support the society's program of research, education and service.

It was also announced that 229 young doctors and dentists in the country have been awarded clinical fellowships by the society for 1963-64. The fellowships provide specialized training in cancer diagnosis and treatment.

Four were from Wisconsin. They are Dr. Guy A. Pandola, Marquette University; Dr. Stuart D. Wilson Sr., David S. Trump, and Dr. Thomas O. Ve-

Students in all Wisconsin communities will receive facts on workers with the importance of "smoking and the health of licking diseases which take youth" as the result of a joint more lives than all other causes of death combined, he said.

The State Department of Public Instruction and the Wisconsin Division of the American Cancer Society, reported Dr. Paul Hodges, Education Chairman.

The Appleton campaign is led by Educational films and materials by Dennis Herring, 1305 Oak are available from the local unit Crest Court Co-chairman is Don of the society free of charge. Smith, 1702 Ravinia Place.

Heart Fund State Leader Reviews Work

At the final pre-campaign meeting of the Appleton Heart Fund cabinet Tuesday, state campaign chairman Robert L. Bittner, Green Bay, expressed appreciation of the state board for "outstanding work being done in Appleton" and said he felt sure the goal of $10,000 would be reached here.

Bittner explained the state budget of $616,000, remarking that the state organization includes 50 physicians, many of them from the University of Wisconsin and Marquette University medical schools, who meet and coordinate research projects.

"At the present time there are 35 heart and circulatory research projects being carried out at the University of Wisconsin and Marquette," Bittner said. "We are not content with a standstill budget; we are out to lick these things."

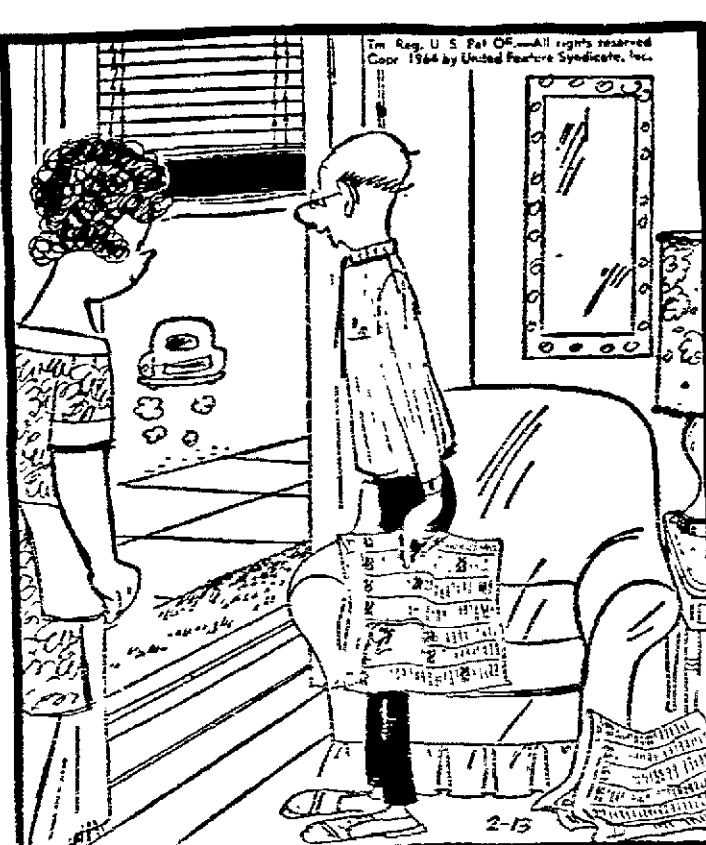

Bittner stressed that actual solicitation of funds is only half the job done by Heart Fund volunteers; the other half, equally important, is the distribution of educational literature throughout the area.

Campaign leaders have the job of impressing their communities with the importance of "smoking and the health of licking diseases which take youth" as the result of a joint more lives than all other causes of death combined, he said.

Appleton Hospitals Report Illegitimacy Increase in January

An unusually high number of illegitimate births—seven at both Appleton hospitals—were reported to the Appleton Health Department for January.

The total represents close to 20 per cent of all the illegitimate births here in 1963.

Of the seven illegitimacies, three were non-residents.

Dr. Marvin S. Kagen, city health commissioner, informed the board of health recently that illegitimate births here were running about average for that of the country.

However, percentage-wise the total last month exceeded local, state and national averages.

The health department's annual report will show there were 39 illegitimate births here in 1963, one less than 1962 but 11 more than 1961.

The monthly count: January disclosed there were 47 men in the department of public health reported 182 births reported May 4, June 2, July 4, August

Appleton Alderman Says Light Poor in 16th Ward

Ald Clifford Radder (16th) says some people can't "see the light"—overhead street lights, that is—in his ward.

Radder told the council's public safety committee he wants something done about it.

The trouble spots, according to Radder, exist mostly on N. Morrison Street.

"The fixtures should throw light on streets and sidewalks, not the houses," Radder said.

"People have to leave their porch lights on in some areas to light the streets," he added.

The committee asked Electrical Inspector Joseph Schoenhaar to "shed some light" on the matter and remedy the situation.

Other statistical data for January disclosed there were 47 men in the department of public health reported 182 births reported May 4, June 2, July 4, August

Sirens Signal National CAP Exercise

Wailing of Civil Defense sirens in Appleton Saturday signaled more than a routine local test.

It marked the start of a nationwide Civil Air Patrol command post exercise (CPX).

Primary purpose was to test communications net efficiency throughout the U.S. working into national headquarters at Ellington AFB, Tex.

The five radio stations of Fox Cities Composite Squadron, four of them manned by cadets, monitored the national activities as participating units worked seven assigned problems. The local squadron completed all problems successfully.

The exercise demonstrated CAP's ability to quickly mobilize its entire organization across the nation, in an emergency. Radio trained cadets can be in communication with the Continental Air Command (CC-NAC), the Department of Defense and emergency agencies to secure immediate aid assistance in an emergency, local or national, according to the Fox Cities squadron report.

A CD open house will be held Sunday at the county courthouse annex, and again on Wednesday. Persons interested in a demonstration of CAP radio in action are invited.

Mumps, Chicken Pox Top 520-Case List of Communicable Illness

Mumps and chicken pox topped the list of 520 cases of communicable disease reported in Appleton during January.

The end of the outbreak which started earlier in the winter is not yet in sight, according to health department officials.

There were 309 cases of mumps and 135 of chicken pox, mostly among children in the elementary grades, last month.

Other diseases included measles (regular and German) scarlet fever and strep throat.

Dr. Marvin S. Kagen, city health commissioner, said 43 men in the department of public health received typhoid and tetanus vaccinations.

A Certain Etiquette Exists For Gift-Buying, Ann Says

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our exceptional man. I hear my 19-year-old son is giving his 18 friends complaining about their year-old girl friend a dress for husbands all the time and I can't find anything wrong with mine I notice that the women who complain the loudest are the meticulous housekeepers and the spectacular cooks. If one of their husbands ever put a briefcase on the dining room table he'd get shot.

When my husband comes home at night he can drop his socks and shoes wherever he wants to I don't care if he tracks in a little snow or mud. The house is to live in and I want him to enjoy it.

Maybe we are slob, but we're happy slob and we get along just fine. So why don't people just mind their own business?—I Appreciate him.

Dear Appreciate Him: Apparently you are doing a mighty good job of minding yours. Congratulations on what sounds like a mutually rewarding and durable relationship.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't want you to think I hate my mother because I really do love her very much. But when she treats my older sister like a queen and I get treated like Cinderella it makes me so unhappy I don't know what to do.

I am 14 and my sister Janice is 16. It all started in September when my sister Janice went into the 10th grade. Mother bought her loads of pretty clothes because she said it was important for Janice to look just right. I didn't get anything new. I got some of Janice's worn shirts and blouses—only because Janice's clothes closet was crowded, and she had to make room for the new things.

Mom drives Janice everywhere she wants to go. When I ask Mom to drive me someplace she tells me to stay home and do my school work. I'd leave home if I knew where to go. Please tell me what to do.

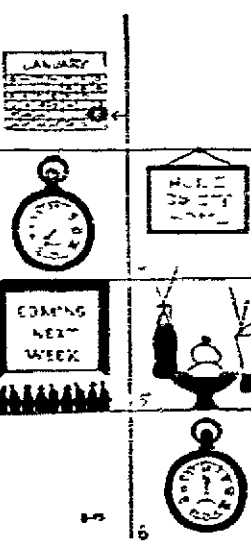

Born Too Late

Dear Born: It's always painful to feel that a parent is favoring a brother or a sister over you. Every child who ever grew up with a brother or sister has had this feeling at one time or another.

Try to be pleasing and uncomplaining. Fourteen is a horrible age for a girl who has a sister 16. The world will look brighter when you are 16 and she is 18.

Taffy's Tips

By Dolly Martin

I have been assured by my son and by a friend who is the mother of two teen-agers that I am hopelessly square. They promise me I will eat my words when I read your reply in the paper. I have the knife and fork ready. How about it—Fogey of 40?

Dear 40: Hand the silverware to them. Mother. A dress is not a proper gift from a teen-age boy to his girl. Ask your son if he would like his sweetheart to buy him a suit for his birthday. Same thing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter signed "Unappreciated" made me fighting mad. I happen to be a wife who likes to sleep, late, too. My husband is perfectly relaxed about fixing the kids breakfast. It's not that big a deal.

There's no doubt that he is an

1. It is arranged in advance.
2. A definite time is set.
3. He must come to the house, call for you and meet your folks.
4. He must take you someplace, even if it is only to the drug store for a coke.
5. You must be on time.

Sheinwold Fry Pans Bad; Fires Are Worse

It is well known that bad bridge players eat more than good bridge players, but sometimes you wonder where they get eating money. A bad player can throw away close to a thousand points on a single hand, and even at one peanut per point that comes to a lot of peanuts.

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and led a club to knock out the ace. East returned a spade to West's queen, and West gave dummy a club trick.

Declarer tried another round of spades, and West led a third spade so that East could overruff dummy with the nine of diamonds. East crossed the king of hearts, gave his partner a club ruff, and ruffed another spade this time with the king of diamonds.

By this time South was down to trumps. When East led another club, South ruffed with the queen of diamonds and West discarded New West was sure to make two more trump tricks, and South was down five for a loss of 900 points.

Foolish Rescue

South's rescue bid of three diamonds was very foolish, but a surprising number of bad players would make this move in actual play. The theory is that two hearts has already been doubled and that perhaps three diamonds will somehow not get doubled.

South might be forgiven for running if he had a singleton heart and six or more cards of his own suit. With two hearts however, South should reflect that a man who jumps out of the frying pan into the fire needs very good air-conditioning.

Mind you, North wouldn't make two hearts, but he might not have to West might very well bid two spades and then North-South would be out of their misery.

Incidentally, if you're wondering why bad bridge players eat more than good bridge players remember that there are about 40 million bad players and perhaps a few thousand good players. Which group would you expect to eat more?

The jokesters would have us believe that green, corn with yellow but for the woman in the supermarket fruit cocktail they chose bright is a somewhat dazed creature red, and for such off-white who dawdles her way from kraut and pears they chose blue. Says California to Pick GOP Nominee

Goldwater Says Primary Will Decide Standard-Bearer; Smith, Rocky Active in New Hampshire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, apparently staking much of his presidential hope on California, aims to turn its primary into a bandwagon that would carry him to the Republican nomination. The Arizona conservative says the victor in the June 2 primary "will be the Republican nominee."

Goldwater told a Lincoln Day dinner in Sacramento Wednesday night that he expects to be the one, declaring "I intend to win in California—win big, both in the primary election and in the general election in November."

New Witnesses In Kennedy Assassination

Warren Commission May Call Possibly Two More to Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Warren commission may call one or possibly two new witnesses next week to build its growing pile of evidence on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Chief Justice Earl Warren told newsmen he did not know whether one would be a janitor who reportedly saw sharpshooter Lee Harvey Oswald en route to a sniper's hideaway shortly before the deadly rifle shots were fired in Dallas last Nov. 22.

Voluntary Testimony

Marguerite Oswald, mother of the introverted ex-Marine charged with killing Kennedy, finished three days of voluntary testimony Wednesday by stating she believes:

—That Oswald was innocent, but I "realize that as a human being he could be guilty."

—That despite lack of any specific supporting evidence, she believes he was a secret agent of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency who was "set up to take the blame" for the slaying.

Information Useful

—That the assassin "is still at large."

Warren said the testimony of the plump Fort Worth practical nurse was useful "in some respects," but said it did not provide "any facts that would change the picture as we knew it up to the time she testified."

Swiss Reject Soviet Protests Over Defector

GENEVA (AP) — Switzerland has sharply rejected the Soviet Union's complaints about Swiss security in the case of a Russian disarmament delegate's defection to the United States.

Rene Helz, president of the Geneva cantonal (state) government, Wednesday called the Russian charges unfounded, unjust and unfriendly. He said the Russians refused to cooperate with Swiss authorities and even hindered the Swiss police investigation.

Semyon K. Tsarapkin, chief Soviet delegate to the international disarmament conference, accused Western agents of "provocative activity" in the defection of Yuri I. Nosenko, 35.

He has been identified by U.S. officials as an officer of the Soviet KGB security agency.

In a statement to newsmen, Tsarapkin accused Switzerland of failing to provide adequate security for delegates and demanded the Swiss get Nosenko back.

Ballots Pick Bargainers for Public Teachers

Association Will Represent 4,200 In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Teachers Education Association has won exclusive collective bargaining rights for the city's 4,200 public school teachers, a count of ballots in the two-day election showed Wednesday night.

The association, an affiliate of the state and national education association, received 2,249 votes to 1,545 for Local 252 of the Milwaukee Teachers Union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO.

There were only 33 votes for no representation as about 90 per cent of the eligible teachers voted in the election supervised by the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board.

Certification of the association as the bargaining agent is not expected for about two weeks, but Eileen Cantwell, association president, said a bargaining team will begin work immediately on developing procedures for negotiating with the school board.

Miss Cantwell said the results "clearly demonstrated that teachers were interested in their whole being—not just salary and fringe benefits, but in greater professional and personal stature."

Byrnes Says Civil Rights 'Necessary'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., said Wednesday a federal civil rights bill was necessary because citizens "are being deprived of fundamental rights," but added the nation would be "far better off" without such a measure.

Byrnes said in a letter to constituents he objected to the bill passed by the House on Monday because of its "broad grant of power to the federal government in new areas." The congressman, the choice of Wisconsin Republican leaders to head a favorite son campaign in the state presidential primary April 7, was among those voting for the bill.

"The problem involved in this bill is not to prevent discrimination nor to remove prejudices," Byrnes continued. "That cannot be done by law alone. The problem is the safeguarding of basic rights through the use of federal power while at the same time setting up safeguards which will prevent the heavy-handed use of that power from interfering with the basic rights of citizens."

He said he feels the bill strikes a reasonable compromise in an attempt to meet this difficult problem.

Man Trapped in Cookie Factory

NEW YORK (AP) — An old gag tells how a slip of paper in a Chinese fortune cookie reads: "Help, I'm being held prisoner in a Chinese fortune cookie factory."

It happened Wednesday says Robert Grove, 29, who was at such a factory in complete details of his cookie order for a promotion stunt for Buffalo, N.Y., radio station WKBW.

He told police that while he was wandering around the rear of the factory, it closed, and he was locked in for four hours. Too embarrassed to telephone police, he signaled passersby, who called police. They located the owner.

Lent, a Period of Self-Denial As Christians Seek Forgiveness

BY TOM HOGGE

Cannon boom across the Moslem world Friday, ending the fast of Ramadan for the faithful pledged to forego food and drink from dawn till dusk for 30 days.

Lent, which for many Christians means abstinence from meat or other fare over a 40-weekday period, began Wednesday.

Since the dawn of time, fasting has been a keystone of most faiths and a dominant factor in many cultures. The motives might differ in various societies, but those who hungered were usually inspired by belief that self-denial brings divine reward.

Hope of Forgiveness

In many faiths the principal fasts are undergone in hope of receiving divine forgiveness for sins. On Yom Kippur, most sacred of Hebrew holy days, Orthodox Jews still go without nourishment or even water for 24 hours.

The origins of fasting are obscured by legend and folklore, but certain threads of reasoning ran through most ancient beliefs.

Abstinence from food was looked on as the doorway to revelation. The early seers believed that visions induced by prolonged hunger brought contact with the supernatural.

Fear also has played a part in prompting man to forego his most compelling need.

Primitive tribes in the Aegean Sea area believed that the act of eating gave demon forces a chance to slip into the body. They avoided anything tasty, lest the evil spirits might also like it.

Total Abstinence

Total abstinence appeared to have been the goal of the early Christian ascetics and they goaded themselves on by exchanging stories of marathon fasts; one that gained wide circulation was St. Jerome's tale of a monk who lived for 30 years on barley bread and muddy water. Another told of a priest in the Middle East who sustained himself on five figs a day.

In colonial New England, the government rather than the churches set fast days so the community could do penance. The Puritans opposed this usurping of church authority and came out against all fasting. They finally settled for moderation.

Fast Day

The Pilgrims held a fast day each spring before the planting. They also held a feast day of thanks after the fall harvest which is now observed throughout America as Thanksgiving.

Fasting has long been used as a political weapon, particularly in Ireland in the days before independence from British rule.

Perhaps the most notable case was the lord maver of Cork, Terence MacSwiney, who went on a hunger strike in 1920 in Brixton prison. MacSwiney held to his fast until he died 73 days later.

Beatles' Carnegie Hall Act Called 'Awesome'

BY HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP) — The Beatles played Carnegie Hall Wednesday night and it was an awesome performance. They have a lot of talent," she said. The children nodded in agreement.

Another unlikely Beatle viewer was Francis Cardinal Spellis used advisedly, for no one, man, Roman Catholic archbishop—especially the screaming little op of New York, who was seen girls, actually heard the Beatles watching the Beatles as they left the Plaza Hotel.

Short Performance

The performance—by the girls—began early in the morning and lasted all day and night, the scene shifting from the Plaza Hotel—where the Beatles are staying—to Pennsylvania station—where they were arriving from Washington—to Carnegie Hall.

The Beatles, as if there is anyone who doesn't already know it, are four British imports, John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr who play drums and guitars and sing and sport haircuts down to their eyebrows.

No Soviet Report On Defector

MOSCOW (AP) — Not a line has been published in the Moscow press or carried on the radio about the defection of Yuri Nosenko, an expert on the Soviet who didn't scream sat in the viet delegation to the disarmament conference in Geneva, lap and another beside her. A brief digest of the statement when the spotlight was aimed of Semyon Tsarapkin, chief of at her, it turned out to be Mrs. the Soviet delegation, assailing Nelson A. Rockefeller, the New York governor's wife. The get away, was carried in the youngsters were Jamie and English language service of Wendy Murphy, her children by Tass distributed abroad. Divorced Woman Remarries; Husband, Daughter Disagree

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: Five months ago, I married a divorced woman who has a 14-year-old adopted daughter. This child is over-stuffed, over-weight, and over-bearing. She evidently thinks her mission in life is to be catered to without even needing to condescend to say thank you.

Dr. Jones

Her room is a shambles. She calls our house a dump, despite all our efforts to make a pleasant home. She's failing in her school work. She steals money from us whenever she gets the chance. She lies about anything. And she keeps my wife and me in a constant uproar.

My wife says this child is her whole life and joy. She says she feels sorry for the girl because she had to be adopted as a newborn. And she says she won't do anything I ask about proper training and discipline that could make her daughter feel rejected.

I had 22 years of successful marriage before this and brought up two good children. I desperately want this marriage to be peaceful and happy, and I want to help this child become a good person. But I'm perplexed and frustrated.

in defiance of similar objections from her first husband to the way she's corrupting this child? If so, she may be immune to any pressures you can exert in your effort to persuade her to take a more sensible and less neurotically sentimental approach to her daughter.

But if she started to spoil her daughter only after being divorced, you may yet have more constructive influence than you currently believe you possess. Marriage may gradually reassure her and encourage her to assert the adult woman's basic healthy needs to please her husband and develop self-control and responsibility in her children.

In any case, you won't achieve anything constructive by concentrating on the girl's faults. She certainly knows you don't like her lying, stealing, complaining, and irresponsibility. But have you said anything to her about the one or two good points she must have? Sincere praise should be a welcome relief to her after the steady diet of her mother's indulgent defensiveness and your disapproval.

Get some personal psychological help if you need it to be able to stop resenting her for being everything her mother has made her to be. You certainly shouldn't be annoyed by anything that doesn't affect you directly. Her over-weight,

Once you're able to see her objectively, you'll be better able to see how to give her the affection and guidance she needs before she'll have the inner strength and resources to improve her behavior. She may eventually need professional treatment, but now is no time for this or for abrupt demands from you for more mature behavior from her.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Mature Loveliness

A lovely writes: My children are grown and gone from home. Quite suddenly I feel and look middle-aged. I need a complete overhaul. Where does one start? My aim is not to look like a girl again, only like my better self.

The Answer: It is a wise woman who, in maturity, recognizes the danger both in following the cult of youth and in falling into the trap of self-neglect. To take either course is to spotlight one's age. And the secret of mature loveliness is agelessness—making no age impression whatever. In appearance areas, the no-age quality is achieved mainly through these steps:

- Keep your weight normal! Excess weight despoils form, grace and vitality beforetime.
- Through good posture and, mild exercise, keep limber. Stiff movements, such as a creaky bend of the knee, are for Mrs. Methuselah.
- Be faithful to an anti-dry skin program. In make-up use clear, natural tones—never pale, nor yet garish. Above all, shun the thin lipeline and circles of rouge that marked the dowagers of yesteryear.

- Arrange your hair in the modern manner, with simplicity, wide waves and perfect grooming the keynote. Use a silver rinse on grey hair; if you tint, beware of harsh, unnatural shades.

- Wear clothes of distinction—subtle in line and color. Leave fussiness to doddlers.

As for the middle-aged feeling, it quiets down as appearance takes an upturn. It departs altogether, if you expand your interests. A lively mind is the essence of agelessness.

The Eyes of Youth

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, THE EYES OF YOUTH. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of your newspaper, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Scoring Ham
When you are trimming the fat from ham that is to be baked, leave on enough fat to have a layer about one-quarter inch thick. This way you can score the fat without cutting in to the meat.

Valley BPW Hear Program on Austria

The terrain and people of every farmer has rooms he rents in the winter time. Gerta Gallob Hausmann Tuesday evening at the dinner meeting of the Valley Business and Professional Women's Club. The speaker, born in Vienna and a graduate of the University of Graz in Austria, is doing research at the Institute of Paper Chemistry and is also employed at Appleton Memorial Hospital. She has been in Appleton since June.

At the close of World War II Mrs. Hausmann, in Russian Vienna, was not permitted to finish her education, so she went to the Technical University in Graz and also worked in the hospital there. She is an analytical chemist who worked with food products in Austria. She is now doing research in the use of wood wastes.

The speaker has been a BPW member in Austria since the club's restoration in 1952. One-Third in Vienna Dr. Gallob noted that though Austria is smaller than Wisconsin, travel is very difficult because of the mountains. In some places Austrian children must go to school in Germany because it is the only accessible way. The easternmost of the Alps is in Vienna, she said, where two of the country's six million people live. By means of colored slides the speaker told about the legends of the country, its architecture, the homes built on mountain sides and the ski areas. She noted that in the ski village almost

Daisies Won't Tell in This Centerpiece

Hearts and cupid's in red and white long have been the traditional Valentine's Day theme. The clever hostess can break with this tradition and have a most unusual floral arrangement for her Valentine's Day party table centerpiece. A suggestion is a giant daisy measuring 14 to 16 inches across, with a stem of equal length.

Lilies Form Daisy
This huge daisy may be easily made from seven Easter lilies and a half bunch of yellow pompons. The lily trumpets should be sliced and opened to form the outer daisy petals. The pompons comprise the center part of the daisy.

First, place a solid circle of a commercial foam flower holder on a regular luncheon plate. Shape floral wire into triangular supports for the lilies. Insert these supports around the perimeter of the foam holder. Each lily trumpet should be sliced from one of the petal divisions down just to the stem. Open the lily trumpet and remove the stamens. Then insert the stems of the opened lilies in the foam holder just above the supports so the "daisy petals" rest on the supports.

Daisy Place Mats
Finally, insert the short-stemmed pompons into the center of the foam holder and add a lily stalk horizontally to the arrangement, to represent the daisy stem. The theme can be carried out further with appropriate place-mats and plates. White place-mats of non-woven interfacing may be cut into daisy petal shapes. Yellow plates and napkins complete the effect. While this suggestion breaks with the heart and cupid tradition, it follows another tradition—the old daisy chant, "he loves me, he loves me not..."

Smoking Is Problem In Hospital Wards

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner I have a bad case of asthma and must go to the hospital when it becomes too severe. I am 30 years old.

I do not smoke, as it irritates my condition. However, I am surprised to find other patients sitting in bed and smoking.

The worst part is with visitors. The first thing they do is to light up cigarettes. And for three or four persons to be puffing away in a semi-private ward means the place is soon filled with smoke.

I asked the nurse about this and she said she was sorry but smoking is allowed and she was unable to do anything about it. But she did open a window which helped a little.

I don't understand why the doctors allow this to continue, especially with all the concern about lung cancer and the evils of smoking.

My idea is a room set aside where patients and visitors can smoke without disturbing others. In my condition I cannot take it I want to enjoy life and not be smoked dried in a hospital. H W S

Dr. Molner

It would be helpful to "the doctors" if they could exercise the authority that you think they should, but ordering people to stop smoking usually doesn't have any more effect than ordering fat people to eat less. Not give up food—just eat less!

For that matter, we can't get people to exercise more, or take the right amount of medicine (instead of too much or too little) or stop secretly fooling around with home remedies, or—well, a lot of things.

In all candor, I quite agree with you. The patient with a respiratory problem should not be subjected to tobacco smoke. In general, it would be good if we could prohibit all smoking in hospitals. Nobody would be harmed and many would be helped.

But how? In hospitals which have few or no wards, but single or two-bed rooms instead, this isn't much of a problem.

In larger wards, it becomes more serious.

A solution might be to prohibit smoking by visitors, but to let the patients smoke if they chose. The patients, would be polite enough not to smoke while they had visitors present.

But what about the patient who has no visitors, and wants to light up, while the fellow in the next bed has visitors but mustn't smoke himself?

Frankly, I don't know the answer, but I print your letter in the hope that somebody else can think of one. It's a problem, all right.

Hair Trouble

Dear Doctor: What causes the growth of hair on the breasts? Is there a cure? (TV H.)

This is normal in many women, and no cause for alarm. There's no cure, but you can snip them off. (Don't pluck them, because of the possibility of infection.)

Resection

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a bowel resection? Is there a difference between that and a colostomy? When are they necessary? (J.S.H.)

"Resection" means removal of part of the organ. A section, for instance, could be removed and then the two ends joined again. A colostomy (which involves resection) means in addition that instead of the bowel being rejoined, the end is brought out to an artificial opening in the abdomen. Reasons for doing it? Because of tumor, severe perforation of the bowel or other such condition, part of the bowel no longer functions, or cannot safely be allowed to remain. Cancer is one of several causes.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, "Acne—The Teen-Age Problem." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

The Lenten Story

BY WOODY ISHMAEL

JESUS ENTERS JERICHO

The little man in the sycamore tree was a rich and rather infamous person in Jericho. He was Zacchaeus, chief among the town's publicans. Hearing that Jesus was coming on His last, momentous journey to Jerusalem, he had climbed up for a better view.

"Zacchaeus, make haste and come down," Jesus called out to him, "for today I must abide at thy house."

The crowd murmured about Jesus staying at the house of a sinner, but He used the opportunity to show He had come to save all mankind.

"This day is salvation come to this house," He said, "forasmuch as he also is a son of Abraham. For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." (Luke XIX:9-10)

Unbeaten List Of Cage Teams Drops to 8

Menasha Fifth, Kimberly, Appleton Stay Seventh, 10th

MADISON (AP)—The list of undefeated public high school basketball teams in Wisconsin has dwindled to eight with Kenosha and Mauston leading the way in the Big and Little Sixteen ratings.

Kenosha, the state's largest school with 3,200 students, and Mauston, with an enrollment of only 388, retained their top spots in the WIAA ratings announced Wednesday.

Kenosha ran its record to 15-0 by defeating Racine Horlick 70-56 last week that enabled the Red Devils to continue as the Big Sixteen leader for the third straight week.

Eau Claire Memorial clung to the second spot by posting its 15th straight triumph in a 79-52 romp over Eau Claire North.

Extends Record

Mauston, the Little Sixteen leader all season, extended its record to 13-0 by defeating Richland Center 84-64. Wausau remained runnerup with a 14-1 mark, while Waterloo advanced from sixth to third with 12 victories against two defeats.

Dodgeville, runnerup for the state title last spring, boosted its record to 13-0 and moved from fifth to third place in the Big Sixteen. Wauwatosa East, 14-1, took over the No. 4 spot, followed by Menasha, 13-1. Milwaukee North dropped from third to eighth as a result of its first defeat in 14 starts.

The Big Sixteen includes two other undefeated teams. Algoma, which has won 15 straight, is rated 13th, one notch higher than Cumberland, which has won 13 in a row.

The Little Sixteen has only two undefeated entries in addition to Mauston. Spencer, 13-0, is ranked No. 4 and Green Lake, 12-0, 14th.

Game Friday: Appleton at West, North at Oshkosh, East at Manitowish, Fond du Lac at South.

BY TERRY GALVIN Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Appleton High School Terrors, sharers of the top spot in the Fox River Valley Conference, will hit the highway late Friday afternoon for an 8 p.m. engagement with the Green Bay West Wildcats.

Coach Dick Emanuel's quintet boasts an 8-1 loop log and will be seeking its 13th win in 15 starts this season.

The Wildcats, the most notorious club in the loop when it comes to making use of the home-floor advantage, show a 3-7 FRV mark, but the Terrors may well have their hands full.

Coach Bob Kloss recently stated that his team had finally reached its zenith and would be tough to beat in FRV competition during the remainder of the year.

Kloss' words backfired, however, a couple of days later (last Friday), when the 'lowly' Fond du Lac Cardinals turned the tables on the West 51-50.

A Record Pace

Manitowish, the other possessor of a first place share, hosts Green Bay East. The Ships, averaging a record-breaking 82.9 points per outing, will be led by Bob Sullivan and Dave Jansson. The Sullivan-Jansson duo rank 2-3 in the loop's individual scoring chase.

Coach Bob Torresani's Red Devils, with Pat Harrington and Tom Rein setting the pace, could make a tough contest for the Ships. The Devils surprised Oshkosh in its last outing, 68-56.

A battle that may decide the possessor of third place at the season's end will occur in Oshkosh. Coach Don Erickson's Indians play host to Sheboygan North in what should be a real barn-burner. North won the last encounter on its court 69-63.

Sheboygan South has its best chance of the year to break in to the victory column when Fond du Lac invades the Redmen domicile.

Brian Bock, ranked fourth in the scoring chase with a 20-point average, will lead the Terror invasion. Bock, Neil Weber and Bruce Miller are the likely candidates to open up front for AHS.

Chuck McKee and Gary Hietpas will team in the backcourt. Hietpas is the only other Terror averaging in double digits in loop competition with a 13.4 mark. Neil Weber has shown

Giants Will be in Race All the Way, Dark Says

Manager Counting On Bob Hendley As Starting Hurler

BY ALVIN DARK

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — I realize it will take a lot of baseball to win the National League pennant, the contention being what it is, but I believe the Giants have the tools to do a job.

I think we have a better club than the one which finished third in 1963. I'm not predicting we'll be the next champions but I feel certain we'll be in the race all the way.

Specifically, I expect the Giants to have better pitching this year. The deal with the Braves whereby we acquired Bob Shaw and Bob Hendley broadens our pitching base.

Right now, I'm counting on Hendley to join up with Juan Marichal, Jack Sanford, Billy O'Dell and Bob Bolin for our starting five.

Heads Bullpen

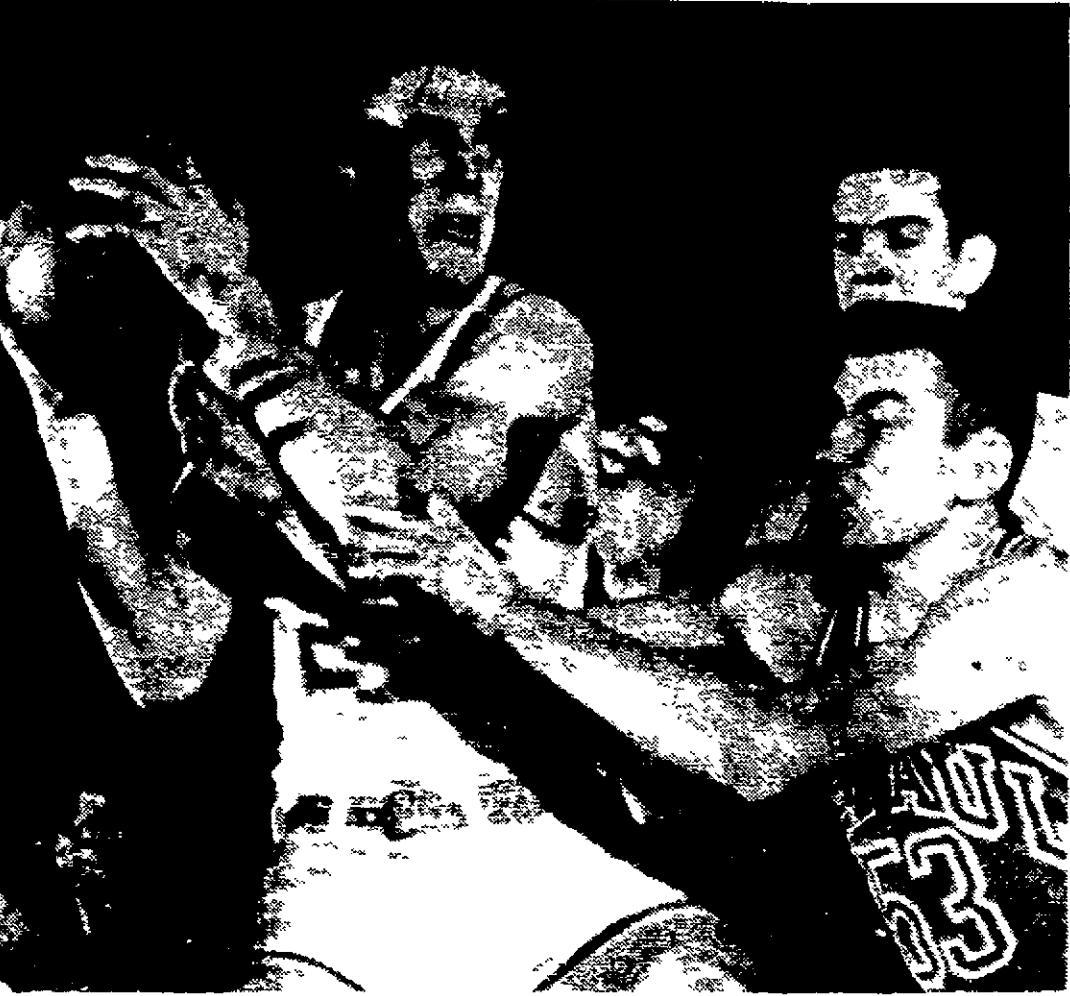

Shaw figures to head the bullpen, consisting of Don Larsen, Jim Duffalo, and Ken MacKenzie, a left-hander whom we acquired from St. Louis.

I'm also hopeful that a couple of our youngsters, notably Ron Herbel and Bob Garibaldi, will find a place on the staff. The pair won 25 games between them at Tacoma last year.

The team batting power is something that has to please any manager. It begins with Willie Mays and he is Willie Mays all the time. Willie McCovey, still on the rise, has unlimited potential.

So, too, has Orlando Cepeda. I know Cepeda is looking forward to his best season.

Additional power should come from both catchers, Tom Haller and Del Crandall, and perhaps

Nash Paces Victory; Warrior Losing Streak Reaches 8

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The setback left Marquette with a 1963-64 Marquette basketball 4-14 record with tough games team is doomed to one of the ahead.

The Warriors deserved a better fate. They had a 31-27 advantage in field goals with a 39.7 per cent shooting mark to 38.6 for DePaul and had a 50-48 edge in rebounding. However, they couldn't stop Nash—nor the Demons' accurate foul shooting.

DePaul, the nation's 10th ranked power, boosted its record to 15-2, while handing Marquette its eighth straight defeat.

New Rule for Clay, Liston

Bell Will Not Save Either in Championship Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Neither Cassius Clay nor Sonny Liston can be saved by the bell in their heavyweight title match Feb. 25.

If one is knocked down, the count will continue even if the bell rings. However, every second of the count will eat into the one-minute rest period.

For instance, if Liston were to go down two seconds before the bell, he would be required to take an eight count. That would leave the fighters a 54-second break before the next round.

Many boxing commissioners adopted the new rule that prevents a fighter from being saved by the bell following Davey Moore's death. The idea is that a fighter hurt bad enough to take a 10-count risks serious injury coming back for another round.

Morris Klein, chairman of the Miami Beach Boxing Commission, also said that eight-ounce gloves would be used and that the fighters had agreed on a 2x20-foot ring inside the ropes.

FVL, Winnebago Meet for League Crown Saturday

Foxes to Invade Milwaukee Friday for Concordia Game

BADGER LUTHERAN CONFERENCE

Fond du Lac Winnebago 4	1	332	289
Lake Mills Lakeside 2	3	314	320

Friday's Games: Lakeside at Manitowish Lutheran, FVL at Milwaukee Concordia (non-conference).

Saturday's Action: Winnebago at FVL.

BY HENRY SIMON Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Facing two of the toughest teams that it has defeated this season, Fox Valley Lutheran will attempt to notch its first double win of the current season this weekend.

Friday night, the Foxes play at Milwaukee Concordia, and Saturday night they entertain Fond du Lac Winnebago Lutheran.

FVL has played a pair of games on successive Friday and Saturday nights, and the best the Foxes could do both times was to break even.

FVL currently has seven players who have injuries, sickness, or are recovering from one of the two, and some of the Foxes are doubtful starters.

Doubtful Status

Four cagers are in uncertain status. Mark Dahlke had a case of blood poisoning, a result of two bad ankles. Ron Vandertie, who poured in 16 points in the last game, has a charley horse, which, according to Coach Gerry Kaniess, "looks better," but is still in doubtful shape.

High scorer Wayne Koenig has missed part of this week with a cold and the flu, and the diagnosis is identical for Dennis Olson.

Dale Lueck sprained his ankle in the Lakeside game Friday, but should be in condition for the weekend, as will be the case with Bob Krueger and Don Arps.

Krueger's back is coming with the first try to get Finley and along, and the senior forward should be able to play with the aid of a supporting wrap. Arps, pulled a muscle but also will be able to compete.

Upset By FVL

According to Kaniess, Concordia was looking past the Foxes to the opponent of the following threat to take over Finley's Saturday, Milwaukee Lutheran franchise, thereby risking a law when they were upset by the suit.

Finley Fails In Quest for Stadium Lease

Athletics' Owner, City Officials Far From Settlement

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Fiery Charles O. Finley of the Athletics and other American League club owners appear on the way to another head-on collision after a session here Wednesday left Finley and the city still far apart over a stadium lease.

In the first collision Jan. 18 in New York, the owners flatly rejected Finley's bid to move to Louisville and by a 9-1 vote ordered him to sign a lease in Kansas City by Feb. 1 or face expulsion from the league.

The deadline was extended to Saturday after Finley said he might take his case to court and hired Louis Nizer, famed trial attorney.

It's doubtful a lease will be signed before the deadline and the league is expected to call another meeting for next week.

Finley obtained a firm commitment from Oakland, Calif., Jan. 27 and it's likely he'll ask the league for permission to move the club to Oakland.

The club owners doubtless will first try to get Finley and the city together on a compromise three-year pact. Failing aid of a supporting wrap Arps, pulled a muscle but also will be able to compete.

Grant him permission to move the club to Oakland.

Follow through with their threat to take over Finley's Saturday, Milwaukee Lutheran franchise, thereby risking a law when they were upset by the suit.

AAA Supports View That Training Reduces Accidents

Recommends Driving Age Of 18 Except With Training

BY FRED SNYDER
MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin division of the American Automobile Association today cited studies in several states to support the division's contention that high school driver education reduces accidents and violations.

Kennedy Name Asked For School

The division has been a long time advocate of approved driver training for young people. It was active in working to provide state funds to help finance driver education in high schools and vocational schools.

The division also is on record for changing the minimum driving age to 18, except that 16-year-olds would be licensed after successfully completing an approved course.

Research Studies
"Research studies carried on in various parts of the country definitely prove that young people receiving driver education have from 40 to 66 per cent fewer violations and accidents than those not so prepared," said Stuart B. Wright, general manager of the Wisconsin AAA.

The motor organization's position concurs with results of an Associated Press survey showing that Wisconsin traffic court judges, law enforcement officers and school officials have high regard for the right kind of driving lessons for young people.

Safety officials are cognizant of an increased accident rate among young drivers. They are concerned because approved driver training courses reach only one in four would-be drivers. And they are mindful that the contingent of new young drivers is going to become much larger within the next few years.

State Sources
Official state sources have not yet compiled statistics to show if Wisconsin school programs are cutting accident rates. More than 400 state public high schools offer at least some phase of approved training.

In the absence of these figures, the Wisconsin AAA and others in highway safety work accept studies made elsewhere.

Wright said a study in Illinois showed that youngsters with driver education were involved in only half as many accidents as the untrained. It also showed that the properly trained young driver had only one-third the violations of his counterpart.

Driving records of a half million drivers in the 16-20 year age group were screened in the Illinois survey.

"Driver-educated youngsters were involved in accidents at a rate of 56 per 1,000, while non-driver educated youngsters had an accident rate of 111 per 1,000," said Wright.

Better Record
A study of 70,000 Maine drivers showed that the untrained had 11 times as many accidents per 100 drivers as the untrained.

Massachusetts made a study of students who had complete training, those with classroom instruction only and those with no instruction. It found the trained drivers clearly had the least number of license suspensions.

A Lansing, Mich., study showed drivers with formal training were involved in 20 per cent fewer mishaps than other drivers.

In Utah, it was found that trained drivers received 20 per cent fewer warning notices, had 22 per cent fewer convictions, and 33 per cent fewer speeding convictions.

Similar findings came from studies in Colorado, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon and Pennsylvania.

Fox Lutheran Plays 2 Foes

The winner of the contest on the FVL court Saturday night will win the last title in the present Bader Lutheran Conference, with 92 points in five games, an (The BLC will dissolve after this season).

FVL won the first BLC crown with a 6-0 record, and shared the title last year with Lake. FVL defeated Winnebago in an earlier game this season, 70-59, but the game was nip-and-tuck until the final minute.

Concordia has a 9-4 record, and senior guard Mark Kretzmann has regained his scoring touch, again pouring in as many as 30 points per game.

The key to the Foxes' win last time was the ability to hold the Falcon sharpshooter to four points.

Other Starters

Starting for CHS, besides Kretzmann, are Bill Lickwig at the other backcourt slot, Neil Bockelmann and Jim Martin at forwards, and John Neuberger at center.

WLA boasts a 14-2 mark, having lost only to FVL and Loma in an upset a week ago Tuesday, 54-52. The Vikings also have the Nos. 2 and 3 scorers in the BLC, forwards Craig Johnson, with 85 points, and Gordy Vetter, with 81.

Vetter, an all-BLC and all-tournament player last year as a junior, had a slow start this year, but the forward is picking up speed and should be in top form for the game.

Besides possessing numerous moves under the basket, with Country Club golf course, which he draws a good share of, the 5-11 Vetter has tre-vine posted his ace on the 150-mendous spring, leading the yard eighth hole. He used a 5-Vikings in rebounding and often iron.

Counter Threat

Other WLA starters include John Willis and Daryl Krug at the guards and Bob Becker at center.

FVL will try to counter the weekend threat with the scoring of Lee Kiepe and Wayne Koenig. Koenig leads the BLC Badger Conference, with 92 points in five games, an (The BLC will dissolve after this season).

Kiepe has chipped in with 212, while "Kip" leads in assists with 24. Koenig is next with 23.

The FVL starters are not definite, depending mainly on how the injury situation develops. Koenig will take 10 men to Concordia, while 12 will suit up when WLA invades at 8:15 p.m. Saturday.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

Bury the Thumb

Are you reluctant to put your thumb into the ball as far as it will go? Many bowlers are. As a result, they must squeeze the ball to hang onto it during the approach. A ball thrown in this manner will bring down far less strikes because it will skid most of the way.

Bury your thumb. To reassure yourself that the ball will still come off easily, throw the first few very gently. You may be surprised how much easier bowling becomes.

Here's Bowling in a Nutshell! Outlined for you in detail in the pocket- or purse-sized pamphlet, "Controp Tips for Beginners." To get your copy, send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Marion Ladewig, c/o this newspaper.

Today in History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Feb. 13, 1964. There are 322 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, the first open proposal in the Second Continental Congress for American independence was made by James Wilson. His recommendation for political separation from England was received coldly, although two months later North Carolina instructed its delegates to vote for independence. Other colonies quickly followed suit.

On this date: In 1633, Italian astronomer Galileo arrived in Rome where he was detained by the inquisition.

In 1826, national temperance reform began with the organization in Boston of the American Society for the Promotion of Temperance.

In 1920, the Council of the League of Nations recognized the perpetual neutrality of Switzerland and guaranteed the inviolability of its territory.

In 1943, the Marine Corps Women's Reserve was established.

In 1946, Harold Ickes resigned as secretary of the interior in a dispute with President Harry S. Truman over the appointment of Edwin Pauley to be undersecretary of the Navy.

Ten years ago — Egypt said that unless the United States backed its stand against Britain in the Suez Canal dispute it would not cooperate with the United States on any issue.

Five years ago — Cuban Premier Jose Miro Cardona and his Cabinet resigned to pave the way for revolutionary leader Fidel Castro to take over the premiership.

One year ago — A Venezuelan freighter was seized by pro-Castro elements hostile to President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela.

Ily admit that I'd have flunked the True or False test on this five knock-out questions in this report.

Your Money's Worth

U. S. Family Financial Standing Shown Sound

BY SYLVIA PORTER

True or False?

You and I are spending dramatically larger shares of our after-tax incomes today on reading and recreation than in 1950.

We are eating out much more so we are naturally spending a bigger chunk of our after-tax dollar on food away from home.

The proportion of our take-home pay going to medical care is way up from 18 years ago.

The rise in our spending has kept pace with the increase in our incomes during the past decade.

The average number of full-time earners in each family is at an all-time high, reflecting the known increase in the total of married women in our work force.

True or False? All five statements are false, according to data the Bureau of Labor Statistics has been collecting on consumer incomes, spending and saving preparatory to its updating of the consumer price index early next month.

Findings Summary

The findings, summarized by BLS Assistant Commissioner Arnold Chase, shatter some of the firmest assumptions about today's spending-saving patterns — assumptions held inviolable by most top economists as well as casual observers. They signal profound shifts in our consumption patterns and future consumer demands. They indicate that the average U.S. city family is in a much sounder financial position than many worryers think. They certainly tell us that when the new consumer price index is released a lot of the changes we've been expecting won't be made and a lot we haven't been expecting will be made.

All the following dollar figures reflect after-tax incomes and have been "deflated" for price increases since 1950 — meaning the current dollar has been adjusted to have the same buying power as the 1950 dollar. Now to take them by item:

Spending on reading and recreation. Because of our higher incomes and increased leisure time, the general impression is that we are spending far more on reading and recreation than in 1950, and in terms of dollars only that's true. But the share of each dollar going to recreation (excluding travel outlays) is down from 4.2 to 4 per cent, and going to reading, down from 1 to 0.9 per cent. Chase's explanations: the spread of television and the increased use of cars for pleasure, which limits participation in other types of recreation.

Eating Out. Spending on eating out. We are eating out more, yes, but we're spending less in terms of dollars, and the share of each after-tax dollar going to food away from home is off from 6 to 5.1 per cent. Chase's reasons: expansion of the school lunch program, the increasing number of employers providing special luncheon deals for workers.

Spending on medical care. This is a shocker, for the BLS finds that while we're spending more in dollars, the increase has been only a little more than the rise in our real incomes after adjustment for higher prices of medical care. Medical into savings, personal insurance, other retirement plans.

Full-time earners. This is another shocker, for in view of the influx of married women into our labor force an obvious expectation would be a rise in the number of full-time earners per family. But the BLS shows the opposite trend — an average of 1.1 full-time workers per family in 1950 against only .8 now.

Possible reasons: many married women are working only part-time and male family heads are retiring earlier. The most significant findings are what we anticipated, of course — a sharp decline in the share of our spending dollar going to food and a sharp rise in the share going to housing, our after-tax incomes have risen 20.6 per cent since 1950, but our spending has risen only 14.1 per cent. We are putting substantially more of our incomes care's share is 6.4 per cent now against 6.1 per cent in 1950. Chase's explanation: the rapid growth of medical care plans paid for wholly or partly by employers, which holds down the direct medical outlays by consumers themselves.

Spending Adjustment

Pace of our spending. After adjustments for price increases our after-tax incomes have risen 20.6 per cent since 1950, but our spending has risen only 14.1 per cent. We are putting substantially more of our incomes

Frank Sinatra Jr. Ready to Testify In Kidnaping Trial

Defense Contends Abduction
Staged as Publicity Stunt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's government witnesses by a trio showtime in U.S. Court once of defense lawyers took up too more today for Frank Sinatra Jr., victim in a kidnaping that the government contends is a legitimate criminal action—and which the defense claims is a publicity stunt.

The 19-year-old singing son of a singing father interrupted a European tour with the revamped Tommy Dorsey band to testify in the case. He was to appear Wednesday, but lengthy cross-examination of Long Testimony Likely

Sinatra Jr. is the key to both the government and defense case. With direct testimony and cross-examination, he could be on the stand several days.

The government contends that Barry Keenan, 23, Joseph Amster, 23, and John Irwin, 42, kidnaped and conspired to kidnap young Sinatra from Harrah's Lodge on the California-Nevada border Dec. 8. Ransom of $250,000, nearly all recovered, was paid by Frank Sinatra Sr.

Two government witnesses Wednesday testified they saw defendants Amster and Keenan in a coffee shop across the street from Harrah's about an hour before the alleged abduction.

Hostess on Stand

Pretty Vera Petrovich, hostess at Harvey's Wagon Wheel, said she saw the two defendants three times over the weekend.

"The third time was during the supper hour on Sunday night. They seemed more in a hurry than usual," she said. "They only stayed a half an hour."

Pauline Ceppenati, a waitress in the same place, was even more detailed.

"They dined early evening on hurry than usual," she said. "I would say around 7 or 8 p.m. I don't know who ate what but I served them fried chicken, trout and a glass of milk."

Another Harrah's employee, Robert E. Moore, testified that he sounded the alert to police.

Moore, motel manager, said: "John Foss ran into my living quarters and said: 'Frank Sinatra Jr. has been kidnaped.'"

Many scatter to far-off vacation spots. Others stay home, leisurely tackling odd jobs around the house and perhaps planning a trip later. Some just take it easy, relishing the simple luxury of doing nothing.

Vacationers Happy

"Best thing they could do for a workingman: it's wonderful," said James L. Parker, a laborer at U.S. Steel Corp.'s nearby Clairton coaling plant.

A mill worker for 41 years, Parker added, "It's a relief. You're getting paid for it and you feel good."

Machine Harry McKee, 62, is another of those staying home, watching the world go by.

"I've got my wife, grandson and dog. We're happy," said McKee. "I hope the rest of the men are enjoying their vacations as much as I am."

Many Will Travel

McKee works at the Pittsburgh Works of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. He's been in the mills 45 years, through bitter strikes and layoffs.

The urge to travel hits many vacationers right away. Most say they want to see old friends or new places.

George Visnick, 53, a roller in the J&L plant here, headed immediately for Florida. He's staying in a Miami hotel and plans a leisurely return trip to his home in nearby McKeesport.

The vacation program was worked out in negotiations last year between major basic steel producers and the United Steelworkers Union. It covers some 450,000 workers in basic steel and has since spread to other steel-related plants.

The plan provides 13-week vacations each five years for the 50 per cent of the work force with the most seniority. It's figured on a companywide basis, not plant by plant.

Soviets Propose Cuts In Military Spending

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that all nations agree on a simultaneous slash of 10 to 15 per cent in their military expenditure.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin made the proposal in the 17-nation disarmament conference.

He said the conference should take it up as the top priority item, leaving all other matters until later.

Counties Can't Gain Via Meals In Huber Cases

Thompson Decides
Profits Would be
Violation of Law

MADISON (AP)—Atty. Gen. George Thompson held in an opinion Wednesday that it's against the law for counties to make a profit on the meals of Huber Law prisoners.

Thompson also said counties cannot levy against the prisoners a board charge which includes the cost of operating the county jail.

The opinion was asked by the State Department of Public Welfare which said "several counties appear to be in violation" of the Huber Law. The law provides that county jail prisoners may be paroled during the day to take jobs in order to support their dependents.

In Outagamie, Winnebago, Calumet and Waupaca counties the sheriff, not the county, operates the food concession for prisoners.

Sheriffs are authorized to take from a prisoner's wages amounts to cover the prisoner's board, the cost of travel to work and incidental expenses.

County Not Named

The Welfare Department said one county, which was not named, charged the Huber Law prisoners $4.94 a day for board and the figure "is admittedly total daily per capita cost of operating the jail, including provisions for the salaries of jail employees. The State Legislative Reference Library said last year that levies against the prisoners ranged from $1.50 to $5 a day."

Based On Costs

Thompson said the term "board" refers solely to meals furnished and includes no other items. He also said board charges "must be reasonable and may be based on actual cost and preparation of meals, charges made by restaurants for meals purchased, or amounts allowed a sheriff for furnishing such meals."

The opinion said that Huber Law prisoners who are working are to be charged for board during the entire week, even if they only work five of the seven days. But it also said that if a prisoner ceases to work, he may not be charged for his board during the period of unemployment.

When Williams arrived, the gunman held him, Ames and his wife, and a house guest, Herbert F. Baumgartner, 50, at gunpoint until nearly 10 a.m. when the Bank of America branch opened.

The gunman ordered Williams to get the $50,000 from the bank in small denominations. "Bring it here by noon or I'll kill all three of these people," he warned.

Notified Police

They sat in the Ames home, drinking coffee under the watchful eye of the young man with the cocked pistol, until Williams returned with the money about 12:15.

He handed over the money. He didn't say he had notified police and that the place was surrounded by officers—including one in a helicopter overhead.

Decision on Ruby
Plea Due Friday

DALLAS (AP)—Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown said today he will announce Friday afternoon whether he will move Jack Ruby's murder trial away from Dallas.

Brown set 2 p.m. CST as the time for his ruling then recessed the court until that time. He acted shortly after the hearing resumed on the defense effort to win a transfer to another city of the murder trial for the killer of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The judge called recess when defense attorneys said testimony from more than 100 witnesses subpoenaed but not yet called to testify would simply add the same sort of testimony already heard.

Families of Servicemen Ordered Evacuated While Diplomats Strive for Peace

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—mored bulldozers, an old tank fighting between Turkish and Greek Cypriot communities broke out again in the coastal city of Limassol as diplomats conferred here in an effort to land an international peace force on the troubled island.

An uneasy cease-fire which was sent into effect this morning was broken less than three hours later and Sir Denis Barrett, commander of British forces on Cyprus, ordered the evacuation of all 104 families of British servicemen living in and around the embattled area.

British troops remained on the outskirts of the city because of renewed fighting.

Six Royal Air Force ambulances began to evacuate the wounded and dead from the Turkish quarter. The exact number of casualties was not known.

An Associated Press correspondent said he saw five Turkish dead in a Turkish Cypriot area of Limassol overrun in the battle. He said the total could be determined only after officials gained access to the surrounded quarter.

Use Bulldozers, Tank

Greek Cypriots said they lost one dead and several wounded. A British military source said the Greek Cypriots used ar-

Maj. Gen. Peter Young British commander of the Cyprus truce force, had flown to Limassol with the Greek Cypriot interior minister, Polycarpus Yeorgiadis, to talks to the combatants.

Talks Continue

The savage fighting came as Undersecretary of State George Ball again met with President Makarios in an attempt to get his approval of an international force to keep the peace on Cyprus.

Greek Cypriot sources said Makarios had rejected the proposal, but the continued negotiations lent some hope that the Greek Cypriot leader would modify his stand. Ball postponed his departure Wednesday night to continue the talks.

The shooting finally stopped to allow Ian Williams, a British official, to enter the besieged Turkish sector and bring out the local Turkish Cypriot leader, Ramadan Djemil, for peace talks.

An informed British source said the Turks had been taking "a very bad beating" from the Greek Cypriots and were in danger of being wiped out.

The Turkish Cypriots in the area were reported surrounded and the source said the Greeks have launched a complete military operation against them.

Starts at Dawn

The government radio said the new battle, the third in as many days at Limassol, broke out at dawn around Berengaria castle at the approaches of the second largest city of Cyprus.

The fighting lent fresh urgency to Ball's mission. The U.S.-British proposals would keep the U.N. Security Council out of the situation.

Ball had planned to leave Wednesday night. Instead, he stayed over and held another conference with Makarios this morning.

Wants U.N. Control

Makarios rejected the plan after two meetings with Ball, Greek Cypriot sources reported. He wants U.N. control over the force.

American and British specialists were reported in Washington to be working on a fallback proposal, ordered after Ball's lack of progress was reported to President Johnson and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

The government radio asserted that 20 Turkish cypriots were killed in Wednesday's fighting for the castle at Limassol and that Greek Cypriot casualties were one dead and several wounded.

Police Nab Alleged Kidnaper And $50,000; Hostage Freed

Leon Ames, Wife Held in Home as Partner Gets Cash

By ROBERT BURNETT

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Veteran actor Leon Ames, released after being held at gunpoint for four hours in a $50,000 extortion attempt, laughed it off.

"I've played a lot of these parts before," he said.

Ames, who is also a prominent auto dealer, his wife, Christine, and two others were involved in the real-life drama Wednesday that ended with the capture of a young mechanic who had fled with Mrs. Ames as a hostage.

She was released unharmed after police, directed from a Leland County sheriff's office, surrounded the car.

Ames, 61, plays in the "Mr. Ed" television series and was a star in the series "Life With Father," as well as many movies.

Like Gangster Movie

He said the action, reminiscent of a gangster movie, started when "I heard the doorbell ring. It was just after 8 a.m. There was a young fellow standing there with a gun. He said, 'Back up and shut up.'"

"He said, 'This is a holdup and a kidnap. Don't try anything funny.'"

"I couldn't believe it. He said one false move and my wife would be dead."

"He asked for $50,000 within two hours. I pretended to be sick, thinking maybe I could get the gun, but then I realized that was silly."

Forced to Call Partner

When Ames told the man he did not have $50,000, the suspect told him to contact his partner, Ralph Williams, and tell him to come to the Ames' home for a business conference.

When Williams arrived, the gunman held him, Ames and his wife, and a house guest, Herbert F. Baumgartner, 50, at gunpoint until nearly 10 a.m. when the Bank of America branch opened.

The gunman ordered Williams to get the $50,000 from the bank in small denominations. "Bring it here by noon or I'll kill all three of these people," he warned.

Train Dynamiting Scheme Is Foiled

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An attempt to dynamite a freight train of the strike-plagued Florida East Coast Railway was foiled Wednesday night by four boys, authorities said.

The youths were walking along the tracks when they discovered 45 sticks of dynamite hooked to a rail. They dismantled the charge minutes before the south-bound train passed.

Deputy Leif Larson of the Leland County sheriff's office said the dynamite was electrically wired to the track and would have exploded under the locomotive's wheels.

Double Fatality Ups Crash Toll

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A double fatality in a Jefferson County car-train crash and the death of a truck driver hurt in a Washington County accident Jan. 4 pushed the state's 1964 traffic toll to 110 today. On this date a year ago 63 highway deaths had been reported.

Fred Fohrenkann, 36, of St. Paul, Minn., died Wednesday in surgery from a back injury suffered Jan. 4 when his oil transport truck overturned two miles south of Birchwood in Washington County. He had been under treatment at a St. Paul hospital.

Robert Z. Schuenke, 68, a rural Watertown farmer, and his wife, Elizabeth, 64, were killed Wednesday night in the collision of their car and a Milwaukee Road train at a Watertown crossing.

Milwaukee Man Held
In Slaying of Woman

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Thomas B. Simpson shot and killed his 32-year-old girl friend Wednesday night, according to police, a man who quoted him as saying they had planned to be married but "she wasn't true to me."

Mrs. Mae O. Blackwell was pronounced dead at a hospital. She had been shot in the face four times while seated in an automobile on Milwaukee's near North Side.

The students—both men and women—crossed repeatedly in the middle of the block on High Street between 14th and 15th avenues. Soon the crowd was so great the demonstrators formed a solid mass in the street.

After about two hours, a crowd of about 1,000 marched three miles down High Street to the police station in downtown Columbus. There were a few reports of damage along the way, including smashed auto windows and a damaged theater marquee.

The judge called recess when defense attorneys said testimony from more than 100 witnesses subpoenaed but not yet called to testify would simply add the same sort of testimony already heard.

The Guantanamo Incident

President Johnson's decision to start making the Guantanamo Naval Base independent of water from Cuba and to restrict the number of Cuban employees who have been taking some $5 million per year from the United States into the hapless Cuban economy was a wise one and a better solution than Senator Goldwater's proposal to move in a group of marines and secure the water source. However, in Senator Goldwater's defense it must be remembered that this is an election year and he has happily been more responsible in his suggestions when pinned down to specifics.

At first it appeared that turning over the Cuban fishermen to the state of Florida for prosecution didn't make much sense if such prosecution could involve us in a war. Foreign policy is the prerogative of the federal government. Florida's law, enacted a year ago and aimed primarily at Cuban fishermen, provides for a fine up to $500 and a year in jail for fishing without a license. The penalty is somewhat higher than is usual although not prohibitive. In comparison, Wisconsin's penalty carries a fine up to $100 or a jail sentence of at least 30 days but not more than six months.

But what apparently is happening is that the Administration is trying to have its cake and eat it too and it may succeed. When our territory is invaded by mistake or we similarly cross borders as one of our planes did into East Germany recently, we expect the mistake to be noted as such. Although radio monitoring indicated that the Cuban fishermen were acting on orders to violate Florida waters, the Administration apparently did not want to appear too harsh. We are presently protesting the 12-mile territorial water limits set by some of our Latin American neighbors.

By making any prosecution the juris-dition of a state court rather than a federal one, Washington is trying to impress the Cubans with the problems they will face but also attempting to show that its hands are tied. It has in this way tried to break the tie between the Cuban fishermen and the cutting off of the Guantanamo water supply which Castro, in the note through the Swiss Embassy to the United States, established.

We have so far come out ahead in this round. By firing the 2,500 Cubans who work at the naval base but must convert their dollars earned to Cuban pesos at a bank located on the Cuban side of the Guantanamo border, we are hurting Castro's regime where it is most vulnerable. In addition, the United States will no longer pay the Cuban government the $14,000 per month for the water. Presumably we shall continue to pay the $3,600 rent for Guantanamo but Castro has not been cashing these checks. His dollar shortage may force him to change that policy.

If Florida authorities release the Cuban fishermen, Castro probably will be glad to turn the water back on. He can choke then about what he will claim to be his power. But if at that time the United States declines to renew the water agreement and continues to proceed to develop its own water supply, Castro's pressure plan will turn out to be one big flop.

It is doubtful that Castro will attack Guantanamo unless he becomes convinced that we will relinquish it without a fight. It is also doubtful that he will be encouraged by Russia to do more than harass the United States. Eventually the issue may have to be met head-on but this time we've come out ahead by not doing so.

The Dark Continent Explodes

Last year an American congressman from the south was taken severely to task for commenting after a visit to Africa that he had yet to find a nation on that continent whose people showed any ability for self-government. It was an undiplomatic thing to say, particularly because of the various integration problems. But a return trip this year wouldn't encourage that congressman very much.

Almost the whole of the African continent seems plunged into border wars, internal upheavals, tribal violence, and sometimes Red-inspired revolt. The Ethiopians and the Somalis are at war over disputed land. Three East African nations frantically called upon their former colonial master, Great Britain, for troops to quell riots. The once scorned Bahututs have just finished killing off some 16,000 Watusi men, women and children in hideous massacres. Morocco claims Mauritania; part of Kenya is trying to secede; and tribes in the Congo fell upon innocent villagers.

It is too easy to try to wash our hands of the whole continent and let them fight it out. But it is clear that the old version of the so-called white man's burden has not been solved by the granting of independence to black Africa. It is quite true that the majority of the countries were not ready for self-government.

But it is also likely that without being granted independence they might never be ready. Most sincere efforts, particularly by England, to put off full independence until such a time as it was earned were unavailing. The mid-Twentieth Century was the time and Africa was the place.

There will continue to be a series of conflicts and open warfare in Africa. For one thing, the borders of many of the nations are artificial and are the result, not of a heterogeneous group of people but of former colonial rule. The British could keep the Kikuyu tribesmen out of hostile villages when they ruled but it is not quite so easy for the Kenya government. A division of Rwanda and Burundi along tribal lines might have prevented the recent massacres but would have meant endless border warfare.

We can hope that many of the Africans have learned something about the problems of self-government from their mistakes. But solutions will not come easily or quickly. We see no reason why the United States should continue to give much foreign aid to totalitarian Ghana until Nkrumah halts his current anti-American campaign. But we are going to have to remind ourselves again and again that the oldest of the new nations is only nine. The United States was not always politically mature in the early years of the Nineteenth Century.

The recent revolts unfortunately are liable to convince some of the new leaders that Nkrumah's one-man, one-party rule is the answer to their problems. A silenced opposition probably looks pretty good to some of the heads of state like Jomo Kenyatta and Julius Nyerere. The major contribution the United States can make toward more harmony among the Africans is to work quietly and without too much excitement against such changes. But it is not going to be an easy task. And it must be tried in the knowledge that the Africans are doing a poor job at governing themselves but that, for the sake of world peace, they must learn how.

Fair Warning to Bounty Shirkers

Quoted from the Appleton-Crescent for Feb. 18, 1864.

By reference to the draft table published elsewhere it will be seen that (Appleton) quota is only 42. Mr. Buck succeeded in getting us three credits for each of those who furnished three-year substitutes last fall and summer. A large proportion of the enrolled men have come up to the scratch like men, and paid their money, while there still are a great many equally liable to the draft who propose to sneak out of paying if possible, imagining that they will be shouldered through without paying a dollar.

We are aware that there may be some who are totally unable to raise a dollar, having large families dependent upon them for support; and in such cases due allowances ought to be made. But in other cases we would merely remark that they may find themselves left out to the draft, as we understand that those who have been active in trying to raise the requisite amount to protect themselves as well as those who have paid in, will be protected from the draft, the shirkers left to "fish or cut bait."

The last opportunity to save themselves will be given this Saturday night, at Adkins' Hall, at which time it is absolutely necessary for every man who is interested, including those who have subscribed or paid, or intend to do so, be present!

Alien-Scott Report

Democratic National Committee Being Recast With Johnson Men

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

The Democratic National Committee is undergoing a full-scale face-lifting — from Kennedy to Johnson control.

This significant change-over is being made quietly and piecemeal, without fanfare, but with a steady succession of replacements. The President is leaning over backwards to retain the friendship and support of Kennedy partisans. At the same time, recasting of the national committee "in the Johnson image" is moving ahead without let-up.

By September, when the national campaign gets underway, all key places will have been filled by the President's personal selections. He will fight for election wholly with his own organization.

Major changes that already have taken place and others in the offing are:

Chairman John Bailey will stay through the nominating convention in late August, chiefly because he is widely known in party circles and presents no problems. He lacks vigor and drive, and does little beyond filling the office. On the other hand, he causes no trouble and does whatever is asked of him. What happens to Bailey after the Atlantic City convention depends on the political situation at that time. He may be kept a while longer, or be replaced.

Treasurer Richard Maguire is slated to depart next month after the big February 27 fund-raising dinner in Miami. This long-time close lieutenant of the late President gets along cordially with Johnson, but both feel this all-important place should be filled by the President's own man. White House insiders say a likely choice is Erle Cocke, World Bank official and strong 1960 Johnson supporter.

Clifton Carter, long-time Texas intimate of the President, who is taking over the desk and reins of Stephen Smith, brother-in-law of the late President. Under Kennedy Smith was the real boss of the National Committee, and Carter will fill the same role for Johnson. Unassuming, able and completely devoted to the President, Carter is a perfect choice for this backstage function.

William Brawley, assistant to the chairman, is busy pulling wires for appointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission. There are two vacancies on the agency, and the South Carolinian is eagerly trying to land one. Brawley being planned as a village-wide school pageant at Shiocton. Taking leading roles among the 170 pupils in the cast were Sandra Brownson, Edna Zeichert, Leslie Gorr, Margo Bergstresser, Bob Schoepke, Sandra Huse, Carol Conradt, Sue Andrews, Vernon Shier, Bob Steede, Pat McGinn, Bob Brownson, Edna Young, Celjle Huff, David Panzenhagen, Russell Otto, Darlene Leitner, Terry Van Straten, Nancy LeMere, Charles Schwandl, Karla Klahn, Harold Duprey and Myron Krueckel.

was put in the national committee after being dropped as Deputy Postmaster General following a clash with former Postmaster General Edward Day. Brawley hoped to get his old job back from Johnson, but he is promoting Assistant Postmaster General Frederick Belen to that No. 2 place. So Brawley is after one of the ICC plums.

OTHER CHANGES — Also on the exit list are two lesser known but one-time influential Kennedy partisans—both from Wisconsin.

They are Paul Corbin, with the title of special assistant to the chairman, and Jerry Bruno, who acted as advance man for the late President. Corbin is deemed particularly close to Attorney General Robert Kennedy; within the national committee Corbin is considered "Bobby's man." He is credited with engineering the appointment of Postmaster General John Gronouski, a fellow Wisconsinite.

Corbin is anxious to stay on, but the odds appear against him. Bruno is returning to his home state to re-enter private business.

Stepping into one of these places is James Blundell, Dallas, representative of one of the big aircraft corporations. He has a publicity background, and the inside word is his special job will be to pep up the committee's press activities. They need it.

Lawrence O'Brien, long-time Kennedy lieutenant and hold-over chief White House liaison with Congress, will shift to the national committee, probably to take over the bustling Speaker's Bureau. O'Brien and President Johnson get along very well; the President rates him highly and wants him in the fall campaign. That suits O'Brien, and he has agreed to it.

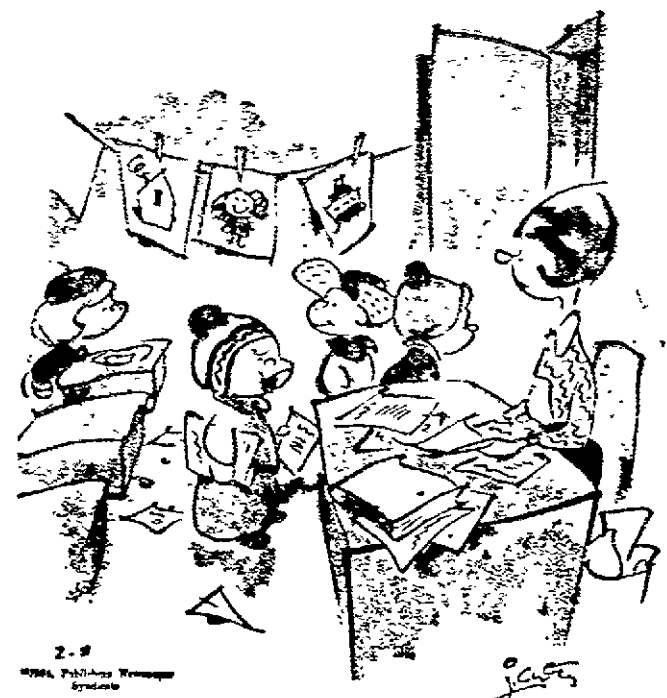

But two other close assistants of the late President are leaving — John McNalley and Carmine Bellino. Both were on an intimate basis with him. McNalley handled Kennedy's travel arrangements; Bellino took care of confidential missions. During the 1960 campaign he was always at the Democratic standard-bearer's side with a locked and chained brief-case — that reputedly had a lot of explosive ammunition ready and waiting in the event the Republican candidate resorted to certain charges.

The brief-case was never used, but Bellino always had it on hand.

Both he and McNalley are departing of their own volition. President Johnson wanted them to stay, but they are calling it quits.

New Code of Ethics for State Workers Leaves Unanswered Queries

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The state administration's carefully publicized plan for an official code of ethics to guide the conduct of thousands of servants and appointive officers is likely to have a mixed response within the state services.

The vast majority of the state's workers will have no quarrel with the idea that there ought to be a written rule on conflicts of interest and related matters, including "moonlighting," which is a more common practice than the public at large may know.

But there may also be some disappointment and resentment about the dramatic way in which the announcement was made, and the possible implication of frequent wrongdoing by the carefully chosen men and women who staff a hundred agencies and now number more than 20,000. As Director Karl Westengel of the bureau of personnel might have been hinting in an oblique way, the objective could have been gained without the fanfare, with a routine communication to the board of personnel which has the power to issue administrative rules in such matters.

QUESTIONS

The rank and file civil servant may also wonder about some of the exceptions to the proposed rule as described in the governor's press release.

If it is necessary to impose such closely written ethical rules for the employees of the classified service, is there any reason for the exclusion of some thousands of others, including those in the educational institutions.

The governor said his confidential inquiries to employees of the more sensitive regulatory agencies turned up about 33 employees and officials who owned stocks or other securities in private businesses that conceivably could be affected by their work, or by their intimate knowledge of state regulatory activities.

One may wonder about the judgment of such persons, given the notoriety of conflict of interest incidents in the politics of recent times. But it is fair to note also that the ratio is a tiny one and it can be guessed that even the critical Mr. Reynolds was a little surprised.

The penalties for infractions of the new code, once adopted, will be severe. But there will be some state employees who will remember that this episode was inspired by an unwise investment recently of a man running a state regulatory department, who was fired for his pains, but was then reinstated as the deputy commissioner of his agency. It is scarcely a precedent calculated to impress potential wrongdoers.

HIGH STANDARD

It cannot be emphasized too heavily that the traditional standard of conduct in the state services has been admirable. Thus there will be no serious objection to writing in a formal way the rules that have been observed as a matter of course during at least half a century of merit recruiting of civil servants.

Even in political appointments, the rules have been so severe as to appear puritanical in other jurisdictions. There was an incident some years ago that illustrated. The governor had let an applicant for an appointment to a big state administrative agency know privately that he would get the seat. The man came to Madison to celebrate, in the company of some of the agents of the private interests dealing with the department involved.

The incident was reported to the executive office, and the governor promptly withdrew the appointment. To this day the frustrated man is probably wondering why.

Strictly Personal

Many Headaches Can Be Called 'Hate-Aches'

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: To know human limitations is the first step toward the good life; once we believe that "everything is possible for man," the next belief is "everything is permissible for man," and then, inevitably, "everything is permissible against man" — and we have subtly and swiftly gone from hope to horror, from the laboratory to the concentration camp.

The contradiction of extreme conservatism is that it wants the nation to be weak internally and strong externally; but no nation with such massive power of arms, with such freedom to spend and attack, can relinquish its internal control over the affairs of its citizens; a militant nationalism is not compatible with personal liberty.

Actors and politicians have a great deal in common — as can be seen by the fact that both are insensible of their dwindling appeal, and it takes them two or three "come-back" appearances before they realize that they are not coming back.

The over-inflated concept of romantic love in modern society has given us such a high divorce and discontent rate because, as Goethe put it: "Love is an ideal thing, marriage a real thing; a confusion of the real with the ideal never goes unpunished."

Hearing our own voice on a tape, we are shocked and disbelieving, for the ear cannot truly hear itself; yet we will not recognize the broader truth that the eye cannot truly see itself, the mind cannot truly comprehend itself, and the total personality, as it seems to the outside world, must forever remain a mystery to itself.

With the first child, we buy him an expensive toy for a 4-year-old when he is only 2 years old; with the fourth child, we toss him a discarded toy for a 2-year-old when he is 4 years old; no child gets exactly what he needs when he needs it, or gets what the others got; and thus it is a foolish self-deception for parents ever to say "Well, we treated our children all the same — why should one turn out this way, and another the other way?"

The weapons we use are the weapons we are commonly most fearful of being used against us; as Logan Pearsall Smith observed: "Those who are contemptuous of everyone are more than anyone terrified of contempt."

Speaking of the emotions, nine out of ten of what we mistakenly call "headaches" should more properly be termed "hate-aches."

When confronted with a choice of evils, we select what we call the "lesser" evil; a better name would be the "more attractive" evil.

Bright Shop Door Signifies Former Appletonian's Gay 'Joie de Vivre'

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

DE PERE — "La joie de vivre" not only is a sign on a vivid orange door in West DePere, it also is a way of life for a pretty, cosmopolitan young woman who has entered into a modest business enterprise.

Miss Catherine Helms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Helms, Appleton, has taken the pretty title of "The Joy of Living" for both her little establishment and a delightful point of view.

She is fresh from the art-laden area of Paris' famed Latin Quarter where she lived and roamed in the heady atmospheres of culture. Miss Helms returned to the United States last July. In October, she bravely opened her wee establishment at 362 Main Ave. where she sells paintings and almost everything else which has the aura of creativity — quaint little wooden buttons of artful and brave design.

block-print fabrics, ceramics, a bit of sculpture, some abstraction and other objects d'art. The artworks at La Joie de Vivre are generally brave examples but tasteful, too. Simple objects become pretty and charming under the touch of Miss Helms, who said this:

"I like things nicely made. I like to think that ordinary things like a clay flower pot can be made into something beautiful. And why West De Pere?"

Likes Small Places

"I like small places. I like the people in small communities. I like the nearness of the people. When I go walking in the morning and people greet me, it makes me happy. This is very important to me," said Miss Helms in such a way that the reporter knew it to be the absolute and undiluted truth.

After two and a half years in Paris where she attended the university and served a French family as a governess, Miss Helms has returned to Wisconsin with continental charm and unaffected European mannerisms. Her French, one somehow believes, is as flawless as her precisely expressive English.

It is proper that it should be. Miss Helms supplements her small but burgeoning income by teaching French. She teaches French, in the rank of lecturer.

finest sense of simplicity and taste.

The once-bleakly dark doorway of 362 Main Street has turned to gay orange. And above the interesting stock of artful works in the display window is a weather-beaten board which proclaims that this is the place of the joy of living.

Miss Helms indicated as simply as ever is possible that it is her great hope to show those who are willing to learn that there is much joy in living and in appreciating good and simple things.

Business Versus 'Joie'

Will the little contribution to West DePere culture and taste fail, and the bright orange door revert to weather-beaten age after it has gone?

A hard-headed businessman might guess "yes". He would add that the stock is too small, the prices too low, the tavern-laden neighborhood not "right" for the enterprise, that the customers thereabout might be curious though not interested. And days of cash but maximum loss are too ridiculously low, to these things has been a bit. The establishment can't last, a businessman would guess.

Quaint Establishment

The quaint establishment is housed in an elderly and dank building, but Miss Helms has touched its simple elegance with one suspects—minimum outlays of cash but maximum straightforward candor. Added to these things has been a bit of bravely hued paint and a re-businessman would guess.

One surmises, however, that Miss Helms is not one to take such hard-business advice nor even to consider the possibility that a financial profit is necessary to la joie de vivre. Besides, as she pointed out:

Pleasant Reaction

"I am amazed at the wonderful reaction here. Everyone seems so interested. Many people come in, just as I like them to do, and talk with me and look at the things that I have displayed. Even children come in and show that they are extremely creative. The business people have all been friendly and no one could speak to unkindly. No body has said an unkind or unfriendly word to me."

But it is clear that Miss Helms is not the sort of person in personal injury cases. He reviewed decisions since the body could, except, perhaps, someone who has not learned in the real, wholesome facts in la joie de vivre.

Justice Wilkie Speaks To Bar Association on Court Verdict Review

Revisions of court verdicts for damages were discussed by Justice Horace Wilkie of the Wisconsin Supreme Court when he spoke to the Outagamie Bar Association at Butte des Morts Country Club.

Trial judges and the state supreme court reduce damage verdicts rendered by juries in personal injury cases on only those relatively rare occasions when the verdicts are totally unreasonable. Justice Wilkie said.

He discussed court rules governing review of jury verdicts and most often goes along with him when he has made such an analysis. Since the Powers rule, there are fewer new trials ordered which a jury award may be set aside on the ground it was Wilkie concluded.

excessive or inadequate, determine what is the reasonable amount of the plaintiff's damages and extend the option of a new trial.

Justice Wilkie observed the supreme court has not been asked to review damage verdicts any more frequently than before the Powers rule.

He also said the supreme court very seldom changes a verdict, and the number of times the court had done so is no greater than before the Powers rule.

Others observations were: The supreme court gives great weight to a careful analysis of the award by the trial judge.

Since the Powers rule, there are fewer new trials ordered which a jury award may be set aside on the ground it was Wilkie concluded.

Lawrence Says
Legislators Stamped by
'Civil Rights'

Bill Actually Will Take Away Rights
From the Citizen

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Ninety-eight years ago—after the Civil War was over—an intolerant majority in Congress disregarded the Constitution, took away seats from duly elected members of the House and Senate, and sent troops to certain states to compel the legislatures, at bayonet point, to "ratify" the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. A "civil rights act" was subsequently passed, and the Supreme Court later declared it unconstitutional.

Today, nearly a century later, a frightened if not terrorized majority in the House of Representatives—stamped by nationwide "demonstrations" that have often led to violence—has passed a so-called "civil rights" bill which actually takes away some important civil rights from the citizens.

If the Senate now should pass the same bill as the House did, a federal police force would be authorized to enter any kind of business—not just hotels or restaurants—and investigate whether its hiring or promotion of employees is conducted on the basis of racial or religious "discrimination."

Secret Ballot
Although the measure passed the house by a vote of 290 to 130, Representative Louis C. Wyman of New Hampshire, Republican, says that, if a secret ballot were taken in the house, the legislation wouldn't get 50 votes. Mr. Wyman was formerly attorney general of his state and also was president of the National Association of Attorneys General. He was twice elected chairman of the Standing Committee on Jurisprudence of the American Bar Association. Here are some excerpts from a significant speech he delivered this week to the House of Representatives:

"This legislation makes a mockery of the Constitution, yield to pressure for an unconstitutional law because of sympathy for social injustice is to say that the end justifies the means."

"I came here to uphold the Constitution, not to destroy it. To uphold it I am compelled to vote against this bill."

Sheer Hypocrisy
"And it is the sheerest hypocrisy to contend that by so defining such private conduct that it becomes constitutionally amenable to federal law when the power to enact that law was never given to the federal government in the Constitution."

Stockbridge Names 8
Pupils to Honor Roll

is hypocrisy compounded by fraud upon the people to ignore these basic truths because some members believe there are more votes for their reelection to be found in perpetuating the fraud than in protecting the constitutional rights of the people—all the people, both white and colored, Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and disbeliever.

"There are still many private rights in America that under our Constitution are beyond the power of government to regulate, and one of these is the right to pick and choose one's associates, one's friends and one's customers in private business."

"The passage of unconstitutional legislation in the face of political pressure, contrary to oath to support the Constitution, on the basis that the end justifies the means, is a perversion of our function as responsible legislators."

"A vote here for this bill is a vote against the proper interests and reserved rights of the American people, not a vote for them. Make no mistake about one thing—that we are dealing with an iceberg here. Nine-tenths of public opinion on this legislation has never been shown on the surface. When people realize what an invasion of their private rights is here in authorized to enter any kind of business—not just hotels or restaurants—and investigate whether its hiring or promotion of employees is conducted on the basis of racial or religious "discrimination."

"It should be clearly understood that what is here sought to be regulated is private business. These are not federally run establishments nor even state-owned or operated. They are privately owned—maybe even by you or our next door neighbor, or he or she black or white."

Federal Power
"We have never subscribed, even by the founding fathers, to a Constitution that ever gave to the federal government the power to say by decree that if we want to engage in business for a profit we must so manage the business as not to be discriminatory. Heaven forbid such a doctrine, or yet another rock in the foundation of free enterprise, will have been shattered by this legislation of a government that itself grew to giant stature and strength in a competitive world through that very same vote against this bill."

"If we do not stand up and be counted in this chamber for no power in this Congress to legislate as is here proposed in regard to private lives, private business, and individual activities—what are we preserving? Do we have majority rule in this land or do we have to abdicate our responsibilities as Congressmen to satisfy a minority pressure that urges that out of sympathy and a record of social injustice—because regulation by Congress of those states that have failed to regulate is a desirable end—that we should with this legislation say 'Damn the Constitution! Full speed ahead!' Of course not!"

Parking Tickets Supply Dwindles

Good or bad news? The Appleton Police Department is running out of parking tickets. Police Chief Earl O. Wolff informed the council's public safety committee the supply has dwindled to a mere 15,000 tickets.

The tickets are used for detecting meter or parking violations, in case you're interested.

Wolff asked the committee to authorize printing of more tickets.

The committee came to his rescue, giving the go-ahead to order another 75,000.

Incidentally, tickets are "distributed" at varying rate of 6,000 to 9,000 a month.

ington, UW president; Jacob F. Friedrick, Milwaukee, president of the UW board of regents; Dr. Leslie H. Fishel Jr., director of the State Historical Society, and Prof. Grant Cottam, research director of the UW Arboretum.

John Muir Park was planned by University officials to serve as a laboratory for studying plants and animals and an example of Wisconsin landscape.

Appleton Educators Ask Traffic Survey Near Badger School

The Appleton Board of Education has requested that the traffic situation on W. Spencer Street in the Badger School area be surveyed and steps be taken to protect the school children.

The school board approved making the request of the Grand Chute town board and the Outagamie County Board after Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz said he believed the traffic situation there is quite hazardous.

The action gave support to moves by the Badger School PTA to alleviate the dangerous situation. The PTA presented petitions to the county board Tuesday asking that the speed limit on Spencer Street from the Appleton city limits to U.S. 41 be lowered.

The PTA also wants a flashing red light at the corner of Blue-mound and Spencer to warn motorists of the presence of the children.

Kurtz told the school board the speed limit past the school is 45 miles per hour, but some signs often are unheeded.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

January 28, 1964

The second regular meeting of January of the Board of Education was held in the Superintendent's Office on Monday, January 27, 1964 at 7:15 p.m. Present: Mrs. Marie Messers, Buchanan, Mrs. Schneider and Whitney. Absent: Messrs. Schulte and Summich. Mr. Schneider moved approval of the minutes of January 13, seconded by Dr. Whitney. Carried.

The following communications were read:

Letter from A.E.A. Welfare Committee regarding 1964-65 salary schedule.

2. Letter from Mr. Robert M. Leek, Jr. regarding an Appletown Post-Crescent picture of his son.

3. Letter from Mr. Gregory Schulte giving his views on federal aid and on teachers' salary schedule.

The proposed school calendar for the 1964-65 school year was presented for review by the Board. Mr. Nehs moved, seconded by Mr. Schneider, that the calendar as presented be adopted. Carried.

A discussion of Board of Education policy on Federal Aid to Education was opened by the reading of the policy as it now appears in the Handbook of Board and Administrative Policies. Dr. Whitney, former Board member, described the attitude of the Board as being against federal aid in principle. He stated that the Board has been used as a sounding board for a political point of view. He further stated that supporters of federal aid seem to feel the answer to problems is the application of money, and this in the past has never proved a solution.

Mr. Buchanan pointed out that funds for science equipment are in the budget for the Einstein Junior High School. This question is not whether we purchase the equipment but whether we will accept the federal aid to help us pay for it. We are going to have as good equipment as any school in the surrounding area. Equipment does not solve the problem; teachers are more important than equipment.

Mr. Russell Berryman, President of the Appletown Parent Teachers Association, Council, was present as a representative of that Council. He made it clear that they are not a pressure group but wish to help in evaluation and to learn what a sensible modern outlook would be. He stated that he would like to see federal aid or not. They would like to be informed as to what programs are available and as to whether the controls would be too great.

Mr. Kurtz explained that the matter of the science, modern foreign language and mathematics program was being approved under the National Defense Act was brought up at this particular time because of consideration of the budget for the Einstein Junior High School. Total reimbursement would be approximately $77,500, or approximately 40 per cent of cost. While approval of the State Department of Public Instruction must be obtained, he knew of no case where the specifications of the school were changed to suit the inspection price are occasionally made, but he knew of no other federal control.

Dr. Whitney confirmed Mr. Buchanan's statement that there has never been consideration of a decrease in the amount of equipment from the standpoint of the source of the funds. The question is whether it will be indirectly from the taxpayers through Washington. The Einstein School is not suffering for the lack of federal aid. He pointed out that the matter of control is of great importance as shown particularly at the college graduate level. The federal government is pouring massive support into certain areas thereby causing the almost complete disappearance of other disciplines. He added that there could come a time when we would be unable to hold on along with the program, but would like more information and more study before making a decision. There are powerful arguments on both sides.

Mr. Philip Costello, a newcomer to Appletown and the father of two children in elementary school, was very much surprised to find when he enrolled his children in school, that there was neither a milk program nor hot lunch program. He stated that most places he had lived they had school lunch programs which were well accepted, and added that it did not seem sensible to refuse aid because of the high ideals of some people.

Mr. Darwin Griffith presented the views of the Roosevelt P.T.A. He stated that while we are in the process of talking of the matter as to whether the money may be applied, and to what field, it also becomes very apparent that it and when we felt it was to our benefit to accept this money, we should do just that. They are supporting the program since they feel we are paying for it. He stated that he thought the Board has done an adequate job but that we do not have a superior school system, and if there is a way to make a better system, that is what we should be contemplating.

Mr. Vincent Elzer went on record as supporting the program of federal aid, and urged the Board members to revise its policy to make it more flexible.

Mr. Nehs read a statement he had prepared as a result of an article and photographs appearing in the Appletown Post-Crescent Sunday, January 26, 1964. He stated that these photographs and the caption accompanying them, are a gross distortion of fact and are entirely untrue. He stated that the Board of Education has done an adequate job but that we do not have a superior school system, and if there is a way to make a better system, that is what we should be contemplating.

Mr. Nehs moved that the Board of Education demand of the Appletown Post-Crescent a statement, with the same prominence in the newspaper as the original picture and caption, that the implications engendered by this picture and caption are without basis in fact or justification. Motion was seconded by Dr. Whitney and carried on a roll call vote.

The Post-Crescent reporter explained how the mistake had been made and said it was not made with any intent to deceive the community.

It was the consensus of opinion that the Board postpone action on federal aid for at least one month, to give time for gathering materials for further study.

Under new business, the inspection date for Johnson Elementary School was set for February 8, 1964 at 9:30 a.m.

Mr. Nehs moved approval of the contract of Raymond N. LeVee as architect for the proposed new high school. The motion was seconded by Mr. Buchanan and carried on a roll call vote.

A proposed teachers' salary schedule for 1964 was presented by the A.E.A. Welfare Committee for consideration by the Board. Discussion of the changes suggested by the A.E.A. resulted in a motion by Mr. Buchanan to postpone the date of pay of teachers by $150 and to add an increment of $100 for 21 or more years of experience. The motion was seconded by Mr. Schneider and carried on a roll call vote.

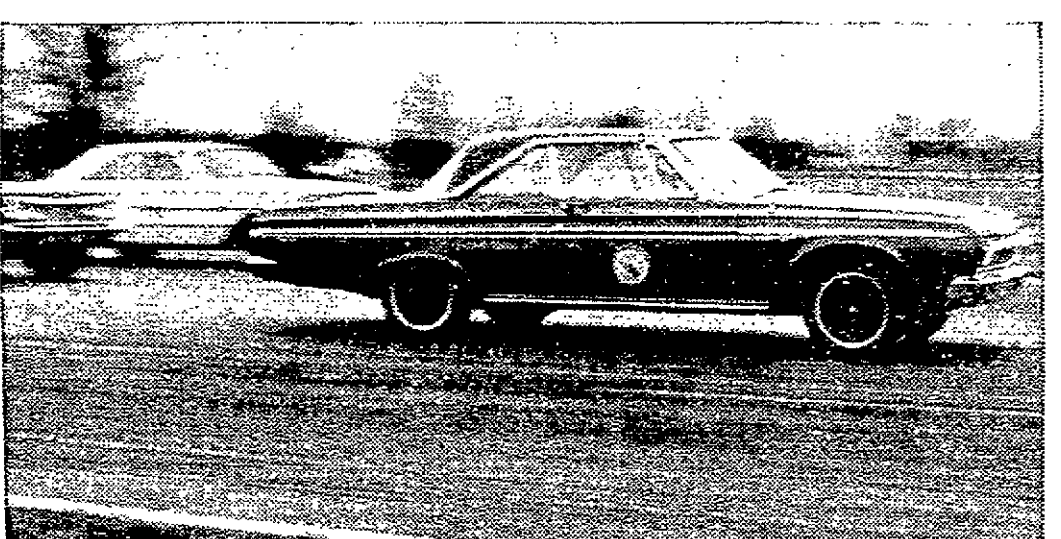

Mr. Nehs moved, seconded by Mr. Schneider, that the Board resolve itself into a committee to study the following changes in salaries be approved, effective July 1, 1964: Mr. William Seiders, $13,300; Mr. James Reiter, $13,500; Mr. William R. Knuth, $11,575. Carried on a roll call vote.

Dr. Whitney moved that the meeting be adjourned. Seconded by Mr. Schneider and carried.

Kidnap Suspect Held, Ransom Cash Found

Ames' mouth, ankles and wrists, then locked Williams and Baumgartner in the trunk of Ames' car.

He ordered Mrs. Ames to drive him in Williams' car after letting her put a coat on over her housecoat and pajamas.

Seven blocks away, Mrs. Ames stopped the car for a traffic light and seven police cars moved in. An officer pointed a shotgun at the suspect's head and she surrendered.

Police recovered the money and booked Lynn Wayne Benner, 21, of La Mirada, on suspicion of kidnaping and robbery.

Also arrested was Benner's wife, Patricia Louise, 25, who Benner was waiting in a car parked four blocks from the Ames home. With her was their 3-year-old daughter.

She said she knew nothing of the plot but was booked on suspicion of kidnaping.

Police quoted Benner as saying: "I was broke. I thought this was a way to clear up my bills and have some money to live on."

Dependents Gradually to Leave Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Wednesday that no more families of military people or civilian employees will be sent to Guantanamo, and that dependents there now will be removed over the next two years.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester announced this action "as a further step in the process of making the Guantanamo Naval Base entirely self-sufficient, and to improve the garrison posture of the force there."

There are about 3,000 dependents now on the base, which has been subjected to new Cuban pressure in the form of a cut-off of fresh water normally coming from a river pumping station outside the base.

Sylvester said that stripping the base of wives and children will make Guantanamo "a little more ready."

"Dependents now on station will be returned to the U.S. at the normal expiration of their sponsors' regular tours of duty," Sylvester told a news conference.

To minimize the time of family separations, Sylvester said, future military tours at Guantanamo will be shortened to a year or less, "as has been done in the past for unaccompanied military personnel at remote bases."

Public Projects Slated for State Depressed Areas

MADISON (AP)—The State Conservation Department reported that depressed areas of Wisconsin will receive more than $1 million under the federal accelerated public works projects administered by the state agency. Fifteen counties are involved.

Federal funds will total $569,842, the state's contribution amounts to $357,588 and counties will provide $182,465.

Eight buildings are planned under the program, including a department area headquarters in Spooner. Road building, reforestation, telephone line construction, campground development and wildlife improvements are among projects.

The counties include Ashland, Bayfield, Burnett, Door, Douglas, Iron, Juneau, La Crosse, Lincoln, Marinette, Price, Sawyer, Taylor, Vilas and Washburn.

MGIC Income Takes Big Jump During 1963

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp. reported Wednesday that net income for the last year reached $1.56 million—up 60 per cent from the previous year's $974,428.

President Max Karl said that MGIC, which was set up seven years ago to provide privately financed home mortgage loans in competition with the Federal Housing Administration, also recorded a 53 per cent increase in income in force, with a Dec. 31 total of $1.50 billion.

Delinquencies among loans insured, Karl said, were 0.55 per cent.

Commission Assays Coins in U. S. Mints

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 27-member Assay Commission, visited the U.S. mint Wednesday to inspect silver coins minted in Philadelphia and in Denver in 1963.

The commission, set up by law 172 years ago, split into three committees for the day-long testing ritual.

To no one's surprise, the Assay Commission found the coins perfectly sound—as it has for the past 172 years.

Mrs. Kennedy Visits New York

Artificial Valve Successfully Used In Woman's Heart

From Press Dispatches

CHICAGO—An artificial valve has been successfully implanted in the heart of a woman whose heart was injured in an automobile accident, two Houston surgeons said here today.

Drs. Arthur C. Beall Jr. and Albert L. Shirkey said the operation shows present techniques of aortic valve replacement allow successful surgical correction. In only one previous operation under these circumstances has the patient survived, they said.

They said the injury of the woman led to symptoms rarely seen as a result of injuries. However, they said, with improvements in overall care of patients sustaining nonpenetrating chest injuries, these heart injuries probably will be recognized with increasing frequency.

Drs. Beall and Shirkey called said they thought the opening of physiological improvement of the patient following the valve implantation "truly impressive."

Jury Deadlocked 6-6 in Beckwith Trial, Juror Says

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The jury in Mississippi's toughest murder trial was deadlocked at an angry 6-6 when a mistrial was declared, a juror said today.

"It was hell in there," he said, recalling the 11 hours in which 12 men, locked away in a small room, pondered the fate of Byron De La Beckwith.

Beckwith, 43, a militant segregationist from Greenwood, Miss., was accused of murdering a Negro civil rights leader, Medgar Evers, 37, of Jackson, in an effort to suppress integration activities.

For Acquittal
A juror, who asked that he not be named, said the opening ballot was 10-2 for acquittal. On this point there was some confusion, however.

Another juror agreed with the 10-2 opening ballot. Two others said they thought the opening vote was almost the same as the final one, 20 balloting.

Married 23 Years

Ford Divorce Is Granted in Short Hearing Wednesday

FAIRFIELD, Idaho (AP)—A McDonnell of Southampton, routine, 20-minute court-hearing Long Island, N.Y., was driven Wednesday dissolved the marriage of 45 miles from her Sun Valley cottage to this south-central Idaho farm community for the 11 and his wife, Anne—a marriage that was launched in glittering style 23 years ago.

The uncontested divorce was granted Mrs. Ford on grounds of mental cruelty by Judge Charles Scoggin. A year ago he issued a divorce decree for Margaretta Filler Murphy, who later became the wife of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Mrs. Ford, 44, was awarded custody of the couple's only minor child, Edsel Bryant Ford, 14, with visitation right by his father. The couple has two other children, Charlotte, 22, and Anne, 21.

Mrs. Ford, the former Anne, the jury room, adjoining the Circuit Court courtroom, had and no one was there. Mrs. West went to the police
